Antioch Rotarians reach is being felt the world over

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

The Antioch Rotary is broadening its horizons and having an impact literally world wide.

As a spin-off of a project done for an Indian reservation in Oklahoma three years ago, Antioch Rotary has become involved in projects in New Zealand and the Philippines.

The most recent in Quezon City, Philippines has Antioch joining forces with several other rotary clubs in funding a series of dams in the river areas. The dams are designed to assist in controlling rain waters which tend to flood low farming areas, thus reducing the number of times harvestable crops can be planted.

A dam sponsored by Antioch was constructed during 1997-98 and functioning in spring of 1998. Antioch Rotarian Rick Kuehn and his wife, Friedel, took a trip to the Philippines in April of this year to see the Antioch dollars at work.

"It began with $3,000 per year for three years," explained Kuehn, relating to the dam project. "The area rotary district matches that with $2,500. Through creative matching from other rotary clubs worldwide, a total of $45,000 has been raised per year. This results in two to three dams at $12,000-$15,000 each being able to be constructed."

Rotary International, in turn, has contributed a $500,000 grant toward a soup kitchen project in the same area, in addition to helping with the dams.

Lion's farmer's picnic rescue auction Aug. 8

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

It is time for chicken and auction, at the same place, same time.

The Lion's Club Farmer's Picnic Chicken Barbecue Dinner and Antioch Rescue Squad Auction will be Sunday, August 8 at William's Park. Dinner will be served from 11 a.m. to approximately 5 p.m.

The auction begins at noon and goes until between 4 and 5 p.m., depending upon how long items last. Among the auction items are a 1991 Geo Prism from Raymond Chevrolet-Oldsmobile of Antioch, antiques, household goods, a new 18HP lawn/garden tractor, outboard motors, grills, among many others.

Proceeds benefit the Antioch Rescue Squad, which is a not-for-profit organization which does not receive public funding, according to Steve Smouse, rescue squad president.

The events will be held rain or shine. Persons or businesses desiring to donate auction items can contact Smouse at 395-4017 or 395-3378.

Free fun, knowledge for all coming to child health fare

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

Face painting, bike safety, fire trucks, race cars and speakers, all for free.

That is what the Christian Life Fellowship Child/Youth Health Fare from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Saturday, August 7 at the Church, 41625 N. Deep Lake Road, one-quarter mile north of Route 173, in Antioch, is all about.

A wide range of indoor and outdoor exhibits are planned. A series of presentations will be made in the air-conditioned auditorium throughout the day.

Indoor exhibits include a chiropractor, dentist, Life Source Blood Drive, respiratory therapist and Right to Life.

Chain's quality improves

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

The 2nd Annual Chain O' Lakes clean up proved even more successful than the first, even though there was less debris removed from the lakes.

A total of 80 people including 17 divers helped out throughout the Saturday morning hours, July 31. Two dumpsters were filled, well under last year's four-plus dumpsters.

"It showed the fact that some people are using their heads," said Noah Poole, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 611 commander along with Antioch Moose Lodge member, who served as clean up coordinator.

"I'd like to see Illinois adopt a deposit on bottles and cans like Michigan and some of the other states do," Poole said, noting he is contacting area state legislators to explore the possibility of that happening. Those items continue to make up the bulk of what was cleaned out of the lakes.

"It was a great day," Poole explained. "The weather was great and everything for the volunteers. The cloudiness did present a problem for the divers as it restricted their visibility very far down into the water."

Following the clean up, the volunteers were hosted by Antioch Moose Lodge for a free meal courtesy of area grocery stores including Jewel, Dominick's and Eagle. Nielsen Enterprises of Lake Villa, along with Kawasaki, donated t-shirts to everyone.

"Next year, we'll try and make it even bigger," said Poole.

Plans are to have a person who started out single-handedly having a Mississippi River clean up come to speak at the Moose Lodge sometime next spring, in an exchange of ideas and open forum regarding waterway clean up.

Students educated with Rotary generosity

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

Four students in the Philippines are continuing their higher education thanks to the generosity of Antioch Rotary Club.

In a self-perpetuating program, the students each receive $250, for a total contribution of the club of $1,000 per year. Despite the low dollar value, that covers the costs of attending a college level school for one year for each student.

Antioch Rotary has committed to each of these students for four years, with the current school year being the second. Following their completion of studies, the students are expected to reimburse the local Philippine Rotary Club of Quezon City North. Those funds will in turn help four new students.

Students being helped by Antioch are Janice M. Barquilla, 18, of Quezon City. Barquilla, after graduating from Colegio de San Antonio, is attending Polytechnic University of the Philippines, pursuing a bachelor of science degree in information technology. Her parents are a driver and housewife.

Allien M. Elle, 18, of Quezon City is in her first year of college at Polytechnic after having graduated from St. Vincent Rolling Hills High School, working toward a bachelors degree in accountancy. Elle's father is deceased and her mother is a housewife.

Clarissa T. Cochesa, 19, of Lupang Pangakols planning to be a business education teacher studying in her second year at Polytechnic. Cochesa graduated from Largas High School, Payatas Annex. Her father is deceased and mother works as a scavenger.

Rolando Q. Pascual, 20, of Quezon City is in his second semester of his first college year pursuing a bachelor of science in industrial education at Technology University of the Philippines after graduating from Bagumbong High School. His father is a laborer and mother a housewife.

Judge Lorenzo B. Veneracion of the Philippine Rotary Club sent a letter of appreciation to the Antioch Rotary through Rick Kuehn.

The letter thanked Antioch for its involvement with the dam project, along with its commitment to the audio visual room.

Church hosts musical worship service

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

A worship and musical service are planned for 5 p.m. Aug. 7 at Antioch United Methodist Church, 848 Main Street.

Grayslake United Methodist Pastor Rich Rubietta, a singer, song writer and arranger, will present the program of sing alongs, original scripture-based songs and stories.

A Northwestern University graduate with a music degree, Rubietta has been using digital technology for several years to upgrade the quality of sounds and styles in traditional church hymns and songs.

"I'm finding folks in church of all ages yearning to sing their faith using music that moves them," Rubietta said.

Rubietta's talented family includes wife, Jane, who is author of the popular devotional book "Quiet Places." A mother of three children, ages 8, 12 and 14, J. Rubietta has a new August release "Still Waters" and is a speaker to women's groups.

A CD/cassette "Quiet Places: God's Music to Restore Your Soul" is being finalized by Rich Rubietta, with the musical production serving as a companion resource accompanying the book. The music includes meditative scripture arrangements and one from each book chapter.

"We've gone back into the studio, redoing many of the songs using live acoustic instruments," Rubietta explained. The two-year project results in improved quality.

"Our congregation is a very open and forward looking group," said Rev. Kurt Gamlin, Antioch pastor. "Having Rich here is one of the ways we can open ourselves to fresh ways of worshipping God and reaching out to our community, sharing a special experience together."

Refreshments will be served following the service with a resource table with various items available for purchase.

For information, contact Antioch United Methodist Church 395-1259.

School District 34 announces lunch program

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

The qualifications for free and reduced-price meals for students in Antioch Community Consolidated School District 34 for the 1999-2000 school year have been announced.

The policy is for those students unable to pay full price for meals.

For one-person households: $10,712 annual income, $893 per month or $206 per week qualifies for free meals. Additional requirements for free meals are: 2 persons—$14,378/$1,199/$277; 3 persons—$18,044/$1,504/$347; 4 persons—$21,710/$1,810/$418; 5 persons—$25,376/$2,115/$488; 6 persons—$29,042/$2,421/$559; 7 persons—$32,708/$2,726/$629; 8 persons—$36,374/$3,032/$700; for each additional member add $3,666 per year, $306 per month or $71 per week.

Reduced price lunch qualifiers are: one person—$15,244/$1,271/$294; 2 persons—$20,461/$1,706/$394; 3 persons—$25,678/$2,140/$494; 4 persons—$30,895/$2,575/$595; 5 persons—$36,112/$3,010/$695; 6 persons—$41,329/$3,445/$795; 7 persons—$46,546/$3,879/$896; 8 persons—$51,763/$4,314/$996; for each additional family member add $5,217 per year, $435 per month or $101 per week.

Applications and additional guideline requirements are available by contacting the school district office 838-8401, or stop at the office, 800 Main Street, Antioch.

SCHOOL DIGEST

Construction on schedule

Everything is moving along on schedule for the construction of the new Antioch elementary school.

To be located at Depot and Grass Lake Roads, excavation of dirt is expected to begin in early to mid-September.

"We've been updated by the architect and progress is very good," said Dr. Daniel L. Burke, District 34 superintendent. "We're meeting our deadlines and so far, all deadlines have been met."

The school is scheduled to open in August of 2001 for the 2001-2002 school year.

Construction grant confirmed

The District 34 school board received confirmation of its $7 million Community Development Block Grant, awarded through the Illinois School Board of Education School Construction program.

Budget review scheduled

The District 34 1999-2000 school year tentative budget is scheduled to be discussed at 1:30 p.m. on Aug. 13 at the Board Room located in the second floor of the Heritage Building, 800 N. Main Street.

Following the preliminary discussion, the budget will come before the board at its regular session at 6:30 p.m. August 17. Once approved by the board, the budget will be on display for the public at the board office for 30 days. Official adoption would come at the September board meeting.

Sheriff's Department seeks to start program

The Lake County Sheriff's Department is applying for a Safe School Program for schools within the Sheriff's department's jurisdiction. In the case of Antioch, only Oakland Grade School is outside of the Antioch Police Department's area.

"The sheriff's office notified us we'll be receiving a questionnaire which will assist them in applying for the grant," explained Burke.

Should the sheriff's department receive the award, a sheriff's deputy would be assigned to work within each of the schools under the county's jurisdiction.

Petty to have new principal

W. C. Petty School in Antioch will have a new principal when the doors open this fall.

Tim Mahaffy submitted his resignation to the District 34 Board of Education to take a position closer to his home in the Fox River Grove school system.

Candidate qualifications are being reviewed by Dr. Daniel Burke, District 34 superintendent. No action is planned as yet, according to Burke.

District 34 aide resigns

Linda Foust, a long-time aide in District 34, resigned to take a teaching position in China.

Teachers hired

Certified teachers hired within the district are Carmella Cummings, Lisa Marchinski, Dona Keller and David Krueger.

Non-certified staff hired included a mechanic, Robert O'Sullivan, and Terrie Edholm.

Squad to benefit from 'Racer's Wing Ding'

Antioch Rescue Squad, a not-for-profit organization, will benefit from proceeds of the 50/50 raffle and food sales at the 2nd Annual Racer's Wing Ding to be held Aug. 21 at Capt. Curt's Pub & Grub, Route 173 west of downtown Antioch on Channel Lake.

The event features various type of race cars which compete primarily at Wilmet Speedway. Other types of motorsports including vintage race cars and drag racing are expected to be on hand. Antioch Rescue Squad plans on having a vehicle on display, subject to its availability.

Children-oriented games and activities are planned from 1-6 p.m. with hourly free door prize drawings planned at 2, 3, 4 and 5, with the grand prizes awarded at 6 p.m. The event is open free to the public. For information, contact Capt. Curt Johnson 395-8604 or myself 855-0019.

Peter Quinn of Round Lake will playing with the band Skip Towns & Greyhounds 9:30 p.m.-1:30 a.m. Aug. 7 at Port O' Blarney, 27843 Grass Lake Road, Antioch.

Quinn is best known for recording the Three Stooges Curly Shuffle, and his band, Jump In The Saddle.

OUR TOWN

Michael H. Babicz

State Bank of the Lakes annual blood drive was termed a success once again.

Despite the extremely hot weather, which caused a decline in the total number of donors, 50 pints of blood were donated to the Life Source Blood Bank in Lake County.

Anytime anyone donates blood, even just one pint, it is a success in terms of saving lives, officials said.

Wilmet Mountain will host the first of two weekends of Ron & Brian's Motorsports "Who Needs Snow" IWA Snowmobile Watercross Races Aug. 14 and 15. For information, phone 623-2004.

A second round will be held Sept. 18-19, at Lambs Farm in Libertyville. For information, phone 836-8393.

A spur of the moment decision to attend the Chicago Cubs-Montreal Expos baseball game Aug. 2 at Wrigley Field proved most exciting and enjoyable.

First, the weather was beautiful...70's, light northeast wind off Lake Michigan. Then Sammy hit No. 41 for the season. Followed by Mark Grace getting his 1,999 and 2,000 career hits, with the latter coming in the 9th inning, was also memorable.

In addition, an usher named "Jim" did an excellent job. A "fan" who seemed to believe his ticket granted him the "right" to berate the 3rd base umpire, was getting out of hand. With several young boys and girls seated in the area, this was not a good thing. Just as I was about to say something to the "gentleman," I turned around and "Jim" was crouched down speaking to this person.

After the game, which unfortunately the Cubs lost, I stopped and shook Jim's hand, thanking him for what he had done. As a former umpire and a high school football and basketball official myself, I have heard and seen plenty. Young people do not need to have that kind of example and think it's okay to do just because you bought a ticket. Way to go Jim!!

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Mike Babicz at 223-8161, ext. 138 or e-mail, edit@lnd.com."

ROTARY: Helping the world

participated in the ground breaking for dam number eight in the series.

"It will get completed once the river bed dries up," Kuehn noted. The goal is to eventually have another 20 dams built ending up with 29 total in the project in that city alone. Each dam is 9-10 feet tall. To keep the river banks from washing out, trees are planted.

"Every dam is improved upon," Kuehn admits. "The people are learning as they go on."

In the past, before the dams, the area farmers were restricted to one harvest per season. Through controlling the river, they are able to reap the benefits of three plantings per year, feeding 12-15 families each time.

Children are able to swim and frolic in the water, giving them much needed respite from the extremely hot conditions which they experience. The water is controlled, backing it up as much as one kilometer, keeping the fields dry and creating the new-found source of relief for residents.

In addition to the dam project, Kuehn visited the soup kitchen facility which was begun five years ago by a local Philippine Rotarian.

Judge Lorenzo B. Veneracion, a municipal judge in the community of Cason City, dedicated himself to helping those less fortunate following the untimely death of his young daughter in an air plane crash.

Since then, Veneracion began working to bring the soup kitchen project to reality. The judge headed up the fundraising, along with spearheading the formation of a local rotary club in Cason City.

Ironically, since the projects were being built outside of the actual city limits of any community which currently had an active rotary club, those local clubs could not serve in a supervisory capacity over the projects. As a result, the Carson City club was formed and continues very active.

In addition to the soup kitchen itself, the facility includes a training room for seamstresses and a water filtration facility room manufacturing Good Samaritan Purified System bottled water available to the public.

"It's an ongoing situation," explained Kuehn of the need to obtain funds for further expansion of the facility.

In response to a need, Antioch Rotary has agreed to provide the seed funding of $15,000 toward a audio visual room within the soup kitchen building. The room, located on the fourth floor, has been used as a chapel and meeting room in the past.

In the future, it will have audio visual projection equipment and some computer capabilities.

"Through creative matching money with other clubs, it's as good as done pending a few visits to other clubs to solicit their contributions," explained Kuehn.

Despite seeing many modern conveniences in selected areas of the Philippines, Kuehn was surprised, as well as concerned, about the conditions some of the people live in.

"Street squatting and poorness is visible wherever we traveled," Kuehn said, including Manila, the capitol. "It was extremely hot and humid, just miserable."

Through the assistance of the judge, Kuehn laid a wreath at the Hero's Memorial in Cason City, complete with the ceremonial military honor guard.

"The monument provides a link between rotary, the local politicians and the people," Kuehn explained its significance.

Cason City, likened to Waukegan in its size, is where the dam project is underway. Transportation is confined pretty much to tricycles and motorcycles.

"People live in cement block huts, with no windows and only an opening for a door," Kuehn explained. "There's no insulation. It's very primitive."

The Underwater World of The Bahamas

by JIM WARNKEN,
President, North Star Travel, Inc.

Would you like the opportunity to swim with dolphins? For the more adventurous, how about diving with sharks?

If it's an encounter with a marine creature you're looking for, you'll find it in the Bahamas.

On Paradise Island, just across the bay from the cruise port of Nassau, visitors can take part in a half-day Dolphin Encounter program which includes a 30-minute swim with dolphins in a private lagoon.

If you don't want to actually get in the water with these marine mammals, UNEXSO (Underwater Explorers Society), in Freeport, Grand Bahamas Island, offers a "get acquainted" Dolphin Experience where guests sit on the edge of an observation platform with their feet in the water and the dolphins come to visit.

For an up-close and personal visit with a shark, see Stuart Cove's South Ocean Dive Shop on New Providence Island. He'll take you on a dive where you can meet face-to-face with inhabitants of Shark Wall.

You don't have to be "Jacques Cousteau" to enjoy diving in the Bahamas. In fact, South Ocean offers "get your feet wet" snorkeling adventures for the beginner designed by none less than Jean-Michel Cousteau!

The more experienced diver may be interested in the "blue hole" caves found throughout the Bahamas. Blue holes are actually fresh water wells which form underwater caves in the limestone ocean bottom surrounding the islands. Of particular interest is "Stargate", located just off Andros Island and "Lost Blue Hole", off Nassau. Any of the many Bahamas dive operators will be happy to take you to these.

Those who enjoy wreck diving can visit the "B.J.", which lies intact in 55 feet of water just off Nassau, or the Sapona, a World War I freighter which lies in the shallows of Bimini. Or for something really different, how about an underwater train wreck? You can find one off the island of Eleuthera. Actually, it's a locomotive which fell off a barge on its way to Cuba in 1865.

The nutrient-rich Gulf Stream, which passes to the eastern shores of the Bahamas Islands, along with conservation efforts of local dive shops, has produced a staggering wealth of marine life which will almost overwhelm the diver and snorkeler alike.

Again, don't worry if you're not a certified diver. In fact you don't even have to get wet. Just board the Atlantis Submarine, operating from Nassau for an 80-foot dive to a breathtaking coral reef.

Antioch police emphasize bicyclist safety

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

Working with parents to provide a safe environment for pedestrians and bicyclists alike is the goal of the Antioch Police Department.

"We try and address all of the concerns of pedestrians, business owners, and make sure the bicyclists ride in the areas which they are allowed to safely," stressed Antioch Police Chief Charlie Watkins.

In dealing with rider problems, the Antioch police issue a written warning for the first offense. The second will generally result in the bicycle being confiscated for 30 days and impounded at the police station.

"We explain in detail what the youngster did wrong, how they can correct it and how we expect them to observe bicycle safety," Watkins explained the warning procedure. "We want to make sure they operate within the law so they will be safe."

During the summer months primarily, due to school being out, the weather being nice and young people not having a lot to do, the police see an increase in warnings and bike confiscations.

"It's not a structured environment," Watkins explained. "We find a lot of parents who drop children off with their bikes early in the morning before they go to work, and leave them until late at night when they pick them up."

"We, the police, then have to step in and manage what they're doing," Watkins said. "It isn't generally a problem. We see it more in the summer than the rest of the year."

Complaints from citizens and motorists include the bike riders darting in and out of traffic. This ends up "creating unsafe conditions" for both the bicyclists and motorists alike.

Concerns center around the bicyclists "not observing rules of the road or the village ordinances."

Orchard Avenue, Lake Street and Route 83 (Main Street) are areas which bike riders are not allowed to ride their bikes on the sidewalks.

"This is due to the high pedestrian volume in those areas," Watkins explained. "The complaints in those areas stem from the kids riding at high rates of speed, brushing against pedestrians, using foul language and occasionally, knocking pedestrians down."

When a complaint is received, the police will focus on trying to find the young people directly connected with the problem. "We don't want to punish all of the bicyclists for the actions of a few," Watkins added.

A parent of an Antioch Township teenager who had his bike confiscated complained to Antioch police demanding his son be charged.

"The sergeant tried to reason with the parent, but after a lengthy discussion, we accommodated him by charging the juvenile with a non-traffic ordinance violation," Watkins said.

The juvenile will have a court appearance at Grayslake branch court.

One of seven juveniles, ranging in ages 13-17, allegedly involved in the incident received a warning due to it being a first offense. The other six, including the parent's son, had received previous warnings which is why the bikes were confiscated.

None of the other parents involved have expressed any disagreement with how the situation was handled, according to Watkins.

POLICE BEAT

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

No Valid License

Pedro Vazquez, 36, of Waukegan was arrested by Antioch Police at 8:47 a.m. August 2 and charged with improper passing on the shoulder and operating a vehicle without a valid driver's license.

Mitchell H. Young, 27, of Lake Villa was stopped by Antioch Police at 1:19 a.m. July 27 and charged with improper lane usage and driving a motor vehicle while having a revoked driver's license.

Fireworks Violation

Robert A. Scholtz, 17, of Lindenhurst was arrested by Antioch Police at 8 p.m. July 28 when he allegedly was seen by an officer tossing out a package of firecrackers from a car. Scholtz was charged with possession and discharge of fireworks within the village limits, a violation of a village ordinance.

LAKE VILLA

Trespassing

On July 25 at 9:20 p.m., five people were cited under local ordinance for trespassing due to swimming at Cedar Lake Park. Two of the arrestees were juveniles.

The others were Aaron A. Burch, 17, of 25156 Crabtree Lane in Ingleside, Alyssa Dara Daniels, 18, of 1010 N. River Road in McHenry, and Jane Michelle Holloway, 17, of 809 Chena Hills Dr. in Fairbanks, Ark. All five were taken to LVPD, processed, and released with a court date of August 11.

Lake Villa resident injured in collision

By KORRINA GROM
Staff Reporter

A 35-year-old Lake Villa woman suffered minor injuries when the vehicle she was driving collided with those driven by two Grayslake residents during an accident on Route 45 north of Washington Street in Gurnee.

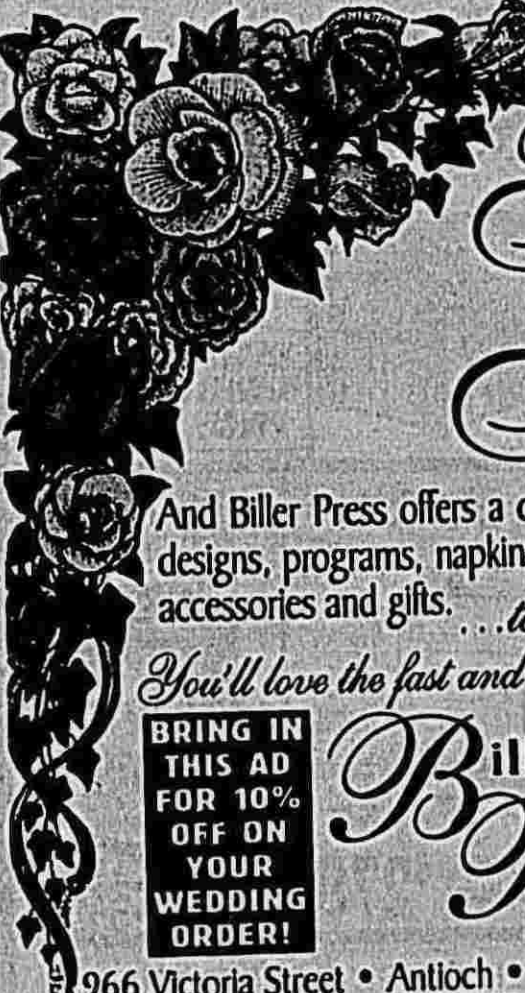

The two vehicles driven by Grayslake residents collided when one of their vehicles swerved into on-coming traffic on Aug. 2.

Nancy Storey, 43, of Grayslake, was traveling northbound on Route 45 when she was stung by a bee, causing her to enter on-coming southbound traffic.

Storey's vehicle struck the vehicle driven by Kimberly Caldron, 26, also of Grayslake. Lori Esguerra, 35, of Lake Villa, could not stop in time and subsequently hit the two vehicles, said Lake County Sheriff's Department officials.

The Gurnee Fire Department responded to the scene and removed Storey and Caldron from their vehicles. Both Caldron and Storey were transported from the scene by Flight For Life to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge for further medical attention, Lake County Sheriff's Department officials said. Esguerra was released at the scene.

Woman charged with fair theft

Employee admits to taking $26,000 over 2-year period

A 58-year-old Round Lake Heights woman surrendered to Wauconda police after she learned a warrant had been issued for her arrest in connection with the theft of money from the Lake County Fair.

Patricia A. Kassner, 1724 N. Lotus Ave., was arrested and faces two counts of felony theft. She is accused of taking about $11,000 from proceeds of the first day of the 1999 fair, and $15,000 during the 1998 event.

According to an announcement by Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re, fair officials had reported the missing money, and an independent audit conducted by a firm hired by the fair board July 27 confirmed that it was missing.

Each charge carries a possible sentence of three to seven years in prison.

After receiving the report of missing money from the fair board, sheriff's office investigators conducted interviews with several employees who worked as money counters or cashiers at the fair.

During her interview, Kassner made voluntary verbal and written statements in which she admitted to taking the money. She reported that she took the $11,000 sometime late on July 27 or early July 28 after receiving cash drawers and money bags from cashiers at the close of business on July 27.

In addition to the theft that occurred in July, Kassner, who has been employed at the fair for the past three years as a cash handler, admitted to having taken $15,000 in cash proceeds while working at the 1998 County Fair.

In her statements, Kassner informed investigators that she had spent the $15,000 taken from last year's fair.

Kassner consented to a voluntary, focused search of her residence for the proceeds taken on July 27. She also voluntarily produced $10,500 and turned it over to the custody of investigators.

Woman arrested for possession

In response to a call from Alendale security that a male and female were trespassing, Lake Villa police officers found a woman asleep on a blanket near the beach at Cedar Lake Park at 4:02 a.m. on July 25.

The woman, Lauren Sue Hartung, 21, of 36150 Mary Court in Ingleside, was cited for criminal trespass to land and possession of marijuana (1 plastic bag with less than 2.5 grams of cannabis).

One chrome smoking pipe with resin in it was also found in Hartung's car. She was taken to the LVPD for booking. Her male companion was not in the area when the police found Hartung.

Meanwhile, Joshua Shane Johnson, 22, of 191 Forest Ave. in Fox Lake, was found by the Fire House on Grand Ave. He said he was looking for Hartung. Johnson was also cited for criminal trespass to land. Both Hartung and Johnson were released with a notice to appear in court on August 11.

Lake Villa shoreline finally gets attention

*Needed improvements taking place at Lake Miltmore Park*By JACLYN GRAHAM
Staff Intern

After years of erosion due primarily to the effects of wind-induced wave action, the shoreline at Lake Miltmore Park, 20959 W. Genoa, will undergo a Shoreline Stabilization Project beginning Tuesday, August 3. The park will be closed to the public during the construction process, which is estimated to be completed by August 30.

The overall plan is to lessen the degree of erosion along the shoreline, protect the existing mature Oak trees, and improve the water quality of Lake Miltmore. According to Lake Villa Township Supervisor Sue Hanson, rock riprap is being put in to lessen the shoreline's erosion, "so the water hits the shoreline gradually." This ideal effect is much like what is seen on long sandy beaches in movies, where the water is depicted slowly creeping up the shoreline as time passes.

Also, dirt is being placed around the root base of the mature oak trees because some of the roots are being exposed due to the intense wave action over the years. So the trucks do not drive over the roots during construction, they are "making a little road on the East side of the park for access," said Hanson.

The Lake Villa Township Board of Trustees hired Neil O'Reilly, Hey and Associates, in August 1998 for the project design, and the construction will be performed by McGinty Brothers Inc., of Long Grove. The shoreline project cost is approximately $40,000. The project was approved by the Army Corp of Engineers Nationwide permit for bank stabilization on May 17, 1999, and is being funded by the township.

"Our tax dollars are hard at work," said Hanson. She assures that the township is taking great measures to protect the fish spawning area as well as the mature Oak trees on the park property. The completed project will greatly enhance the park and lakefront area. The public's support is much appreciated.

It's time to get back to basics

Well the summer season is winding down and still not one of those overpaid, obnoxious fashion designers managed to create a line of swim wear that compliments a woman's figure. Although the styles are numerous and the choices endless, does anyone, excluding runway models, actually feel good about the way they look in a bathing suit?

Some claim to slim hips, reduce busts, flatten tummies or hide any number of flaws. Some are cut so high it gives a whole new meaning to biking waxing, while other plunge so low, pierced belly buttons are exposed. What sadistic designer decided swim wear needed to be skin tight, and pinch and bind in all the appropriate areas of the human body?

Although teenage girls, with their budding breast and narrow hips, can successfully wear the stylish new lines, they feel self-conscious and "fat" in their single digit sizes and cover their slender forms under baggy shirts. The grandmas of the world, who have reached the "I'm old, gray, wrinkled and have varicose veins" times of their life, don suits with built in underwire bras and hip hiding little skirts; a modest choice. Then all sandwiched in between is the rest of the population. For those of you who shop at popular boutiques, keep in mind, it doesn't matter whose designer name is plastered on your buttocks, if it's spilling out down to your calves, it isn't doing its job.

Small isn't necessarily good, and expensive doesn't mean a thing unless free liposuction treatments are included. And a "Thong" is nothing more than an over-sized piece of elastic left on the sewing room floor that some penny-pinching designer was determined to turn into a profit instead of the end of the day's trash.

Of course, if you are one of the lucky few who manage to pull off the latest trends looking somewhat respectable, a coupe of hours in the hot sun and whatever can sag, will sag. For those adventurous enough to test the waters, for which this apparel was created, you can just forget about the fashion statement you were trying to make. No matter if you just waded into the pool or do an impressive cannon ball off the high dive, it's a given that everything that doesn't manage to work its way to the bottom of the pool, will either hike up or suction itself to your body so no intimate detail is left to the imagination.

And has anyone every sat at a public beach or pool and actually seen one of those people who frequent health clubs and spend their lunch hours working out? They must have their own private swimming holes because looking around I bet none of this crowd has seen an exercise facility since the third grade. Women across America, we need to rethink this whole bathing suit apparel idea and go back to cut offs and dad's ratty t-shirts. It's practical, covers all the essential body parts, and once you get used to the permanent wedgie created by the fashionably tight jeans, you may even actually utilize the water and only improve on the look. It's been claimed that a woman, tired of trying to pour her 140 pound body into 1/4 yard of fabric, while maintaining a respectable look, invented air conditioning. Men's choices are so much simpler, now if we could just convince grandpa that Speedos do nothing for his physique.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Host families needed for Foreign Exchange Students

Ever wonder what it would be like to really get to know a young person from a different country? Youth for Understanding (YFU) International Exchange offers Lake County families a chance to do just that. The national non-profit organization seeks host families for high school students from more than 50 countries including Brazil, Japan, and Germany.

According to YFU Volunteer Coordinator Jennifer Talarico, "July and August are key months for international students who hope to enroll in Lake County high schools as part of our educational exchange program. We need to hear from families who would like to provide shelter and support in exchange for a wonderfully enriching experience. For example, American traditions can take on deeper meaning as you introduce them to your international son or daughter. A casual family chat about world events can reveal new perspectives. Your dinner table may include wonderful dishes when your exchange student cooks up a taste of home for all to sample."

Families need not have a child to send abroad in order to be a host. Families are responsible for providing their student with a loving, caring environment and three meals a day. Exchange students can share a bedroom with a age-appropriate, same-sex sibling. For more information contact David Becker, a Grayslake-based Volunteer Representative at 548-7879.

THE CLIPBOARD

John Phelps

Special" credit due!

Many of us are confronted with the day-to-day trials and tribulations of everyday life.

And for the most part, while they might seem important and sometimes earth shattering, they are pretty much rectified and dissipated usually from the byproduct that we refer to as time.

But what about the less fortunate that have to live with the adversity and dilemma's-for life!

We thus make inference to the mentally retarded and/or one's that have closely related developmental disabilities.

Well, there are many agencies in the Lake County area that help assist those who are less fortunate than we are.

Some of them include Libertyville's Lambs Farm, NIRSA in Crystal Lake, SRACLC in Vernon Hills, SEDOL in Lake County, and SRARL out of Round Lake.

Now, to go even further, there's an organization that helps honor those kinds of special people and that would be The Special Olympics of Illinois.

Every year, the Special Olympics State Summer Games are held in an effort to honor these special athletes. And it doesn't stop there, as various sports are ongoing throughout each respective season, just like in the high school or grade school arena.

More than 3,300 athletes from across the state compete annually in the mid-summer Special Olympics held at Illinois State University.

The Special Olympics of Illinois also hosted its annual State Tennis Tournament last month, and, I might add, Jeff Tomaszek from Lambs Farm in Libertyville received the Deanna Kromer Award for his sportsmanship during the tournament. Kromer, for the record, a Special Olympics Athlete from Flossmoor, lost her life to cancer in 1995.

Additional events that lie in the wings include the state softball tournament, held in Decatur August 20-21, the state bowling finals in Peoria on November 20. The state volleyball tournament is also on the upcoming schedule and is slated for December 4-5 down in Urbana, IL, and mark November 20 on the calendar, which is when the state bowling tournament will commence, also in Peoria.

The Special Olympics is a great organization that helps give, via athletics, the less fortunate a chance to prove they can hang with the best of them.

"It's very worthwhile in that it let's these athletes improve their skills and self-esteem when they see they can compete," said Michele Henson, Public Relations Manager for The Special Olympics headquarters, located in Normal, IL. "We've had a tremendous turnout in all of the sports and it's continues to grow every year."

Now then, shifting gears and a little closer to home, we have to pay tribute to the Round Lake Lady Lions ninth and 10th grade basketball team.

Under the direction of Round Lake resident Andrea Jadrich, The Lady Lions recently captured third place in the national tournament down in Peoria.

Congratulations to all-they are special no matter how you slice it!

Lakeland-based Lakers claim another title

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

For those who are not familiar, don't sweat it because chances are, you'll have an opportunity, whether it's now or sometime over the next four years.

Coming to a high school near you in the not-to-distant future will be one, if not several, basketball players who currently play for re-known league founder and coach Denny Porter's Chicago, Lakeland-based Lakers eighth-grade basketball team.

Porter, who founded and started the program 32 years ago, has fielded teams on the sixth through ninth grade levels for both boys and girls, teams that combined have several state titles and five national crowns to their credit.

And this year's team added another one to the list!

MVP guard Andre White, who will be a freshman at Zion-Benton High School this fall, poured in 36 points as the Lakers thumped host Peoria Rush 60-47 en route to its second straight North American Youth Basketball Eighth Grade National Championship in Peoria.

The Lakers posted 10 straight victories in capturing the title and currently sport a 44-12 record for the summer season.

"The team this year is smaller but definitely quicker than one's I've had in the past," said Porter.

"They are so tenacious, especially on defense. And Andre is one of the best players I've had."

Demetreus Boyd, who will join White as a freshman this fall at Zion, is another big rebounder and scoring threat for the Lakers.

"We definitely do it with defense," said White. "Plus, we just know where one another is on the court—we also have excellent communication."

First-year assistant coach Rick Meckler agreed.

"Our defense starts the offense," he said. "These guys just swarm to the ball and play an attack-dog defense and before you know it, one of them is scoring in transition."

Boyd was also in agreement.

"When you play for (Denny) Porter, there is no standing around," he said. "We play an up-tempo game and are just very quick to the ball. Having good knowledge and instincts of the game also helps a lot."

White and the Lakers can score in bunches, but the defense also yields mindboggling numbers.

The "D" has forced 18 turnovers per game while holding opponents to 41.5 points per contest. The Lakers offense, in turn, has averaged 55.4 points per game.

"That's what you learn when you play for coach Porter," said Boyd, White, and three-point sharpshooting forward Adam Meckler.

"He's intense but really pushes you to play hard and most importantly, have fun while doing it." In the quarterfinal game in Peoria, the Lakers beat the Junior Warriors behind a 10-point effort from center Brett Saternus. White added eight points and guard Justin Davenport dished out seven assists to go along with seven points. Forward Ryan Raymundo of Mundelein added nine rebounds and collected five steals in the victory.

The Iowa Black Knights were next on the list of victims, as the Lakers prevailed, 61-45, in the semifinal contest that saw the Lakers shoot 61 percent from the field.

Center Jon Gregoire led the champs with 14 points, while White added 12, Boyd nine points and eight rebounds, and Davenport eight points, seven assists, and four steals.

Again, the Lakers pressure man-to-man defense was the key.

Guard Mike Lynn of Lake Villa and teammate Mark Woltzen of Antioch forced 11 Iowa turnovers. Round Lake forward Mike Armstead added 10 rebounds to accompany four steals.

The Lakers never trailed in the championship game. Complementing White's 36 points was Gregoire (eight points, nine rebounds), and Saternus (six points, seven rebounds, four steals).

At one point, the Lakers held an 18-point advantage on the strength of Boyd and Armstead, who forced Peoria into 12 turnovers. Boyd also had eight rebounds in the game.

'Dynamo 5' earns trip to regionals

Five members of the Lindenhurst Dynamo Blue U-10 boys soccer team recently claimed second place in the Lisle 3 on 3 shootout.

Steven Linder, Aaron Nichols, Matthew Reimer, Marek Smith, and Andy Schultz will be headed to Indianapolis August 14-15 for the regional finals.

Under the direction of coaches Jeff Smith and Jerry Nichols, the "Dynamo 5" posted a 4-1 record in the 25-team field.

In Saturday's first-round action in the pouring rain, the Dynamo 5 went 3-1 in advancing to Sunday's championship bracket.

Nichols, the team MVP during the regular season, scored four of the Dynamo's five goals in one of Sunday's victories.

Smith, the "Most Versatile" Award winner for the Dynamo's during the regular season, led the team with assists and scored several goals over the weekend.

Linder, the Dynamo's "Most Defensive Aggressive" Award winner during the traveling season, scored a few goals and was instrumental in setting up his teammates, as he was all over the field.

Reimer, who plays sweeper and received the "Sportsmanship" Award for the regular-season, stymied the opposition by nullifying several scoring chances and even scored a goal of his own from the mid-field mark.

And Schultz, who received the "Outstanding Goalie" Award this season, finally had the chance to show opponents his powerful kick as he slammed the ball into the goal several times from the left side of the field.

Lindenhurst is proud of the entire Dynamo U-10 soccer team for a great season!

Good luck to these five players and coaches Smith and Nichols as they embark on the regional finals in Indianapolis Aug. 14-15.

Meanwhile, the U-7 Dynao boys team also competed in Lisle, only to fall one goal short of the regionals in Indianapolis.

Nevertheless, congratulations to Daniel Hittenmiller, William ebavitz, Tyler Nichols, Robert Nogle, and Aaron Schultz on a great season!

Sibling team takes Wilmot cruiser crown

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

The brother-sister team of Vicki Decker of Trevor, Wis. and Mike Decker of Milwaukee scored the 1999 season championship for the Coors Light Silver Bullet Sunday Funday two-person cruisers at Premier Racing Production's Wilmot Speedway.

The Deckers had mechanical problems with their 1977 Oldsmobile in the season finale on August 1, relegating them to watching the feature event from the infield and finishing last.

Paul Bailey and his nephew-to-be, Mike Burian, both of Trevor, Wis., scored a bizarre feature victory when Kurt Talbert and Chris Rigert, both of Salem, had transmission problems. Talbert and Rigert's car wound up going head-first into the front wall of the last straightaway by the finish line while receiving the white flag indicating the final lap was up.

Bailey and Burian, who were handling the gas person duties for the first time ever, made up a three-quarter lap deficit to take the checkered flag. Ross Johnson, the father from Salem, and Tim Johnson, his son, from Burlington, ended up second in the race and runner-up in season points standings.

The father-son team of Dan and Derrick Tanski of Silver Lake finished third in the feature, while the duo of Talbert and Rigert winning their heat race.

Ken "Dr. Tooth" Johnson, the Antioch Dental Center racing dentist, scored his second mini-modified feature win of the season. Hermie Schultz of Silver Lake won the heat.

LET'S GO RACING . . .

Michael H. Babicz

Johnny Fahl of Milwaukee won his fourth straight IMCA hobby stock feature. John Janssen of Genoa City stopped Fahl's overall win streak at six by taking the heat race.

In Citgo Auto/Truck Plaza Night action July 31, Pewaukee's Todd Hepfner made it two Star Trac 410 Outlaw Sprint feature wins in a row. Point leader Tommy Sexton of Antioch, after winning a qualifying heat race earlier, placed fifth. Gurnee's Tony Engels, who posted the fastest qualifying time among the 47 sprint cars, claimed sixth place. Other area finishers included Fox Lake's Paul Ptasinski 16th, Pleasant Prairie's Kris Spitz winning the "B" main, Twin Lake's Todd Lehr taking the checkered flag in the "C" main.

Lake Villa's Rob Olson won the make-up IMCA modified July 25 feature to add to his season point lead. Antioch's Scott Kuxhouse was second, Ingleside's Jerry Pitts, who earlier won a heat race, was fifth in the only Ford-powered car in the field, and Lake Villa's Bobby John Hensley claimed 11th.

Other Lakeland-area finishers saw Wildwood's Jason Hyerdall 12th, and Wildwood's Chuck Ostergaard, Hyerdall's step-dad, and Rob Olson winning their respective heat races.

The IMCA modifieds are scheduled for twin features Saturday, August 7, as part of The Original Outlet Mall of Kenosha Night, along with a full program of sprint cars.

Wilmot Speedway will also host a Shalom Interfaith Community Food Bank drive. Fans, competitors and crew members alike are asked by Promoter Andy Calin to bring a can or non-perishable food item.

"If everybody brings one or two items, we'll be able to help hundreds of families in the Kenosha County area," Calin said. "Despite it being summertime, there are a lot of people in Kenosha County who go hungry."

The past two weeks, Wilmot joined the U.S. Marine Corps in collecting toys for the Toys For Tots holiday campaign. Wilmot plans a coat drive at the track in September to help homeless and less fortunate people keep warm during the fall and winter months.

Wilmot Speedway will be represented in a pair of community activities this weekend. This Friday, racing brothers Ray and Rob Olson, along with Chuck Needham, are planning to have their IMCA modifieds at Warren Township Park for a visit with summer campers from the Warren Special Recreation Association.

The Speedway "Big 2" Ray & Raymond Chevrolet-Oldsmobile Chevrolet Pace Truck will also be there. Plans are to have a sprint car displayed as well.

Also taking place this Saturday, from 10 a.m.-4 p.m., the Olson's, Needham and Jay Sachs of Waukegan's sprint car, along with the pace truck and possibly the Speedway "Funbug," will be participating in the Christian Life Fellow-ship's Youth/Child Health Fair. The free fair is at the church grounds, one-quarter mile north of Route 173 on Deep Lake Road in Antioch.

Mark Saturday, August 21, on your calendars for the 2nd Annual Racers Wing Ding at Capt. Curt's Pub & Grub, Route 173, on Channel Lake, just west of downtown Antioch. A race car show, children's and "kids at heart" games, refreshments and other family-oriented activities are planned. Activities begin at 1 p.m. with prize giveaways planned hourly. The car show will last until 9 p.m. The event is free and the public, especially children, are invited to attend. Watch Lakeland Newspapers for further information.

Speaking of marking your calendar, the 24th Annual Let's Go Racing Motorsports Show is scheduled for Friday-Sunday, March 24-26, 2000, at The Original Outlet Mall in Kenosha. Promoted by Babicz Auto Racing Services (BARS), the event has no entry fee for motorsports entries, but space is limited. To enter, contact (847) 855-0019.

Wonder Lake's Zac Deeringer expanded his point lead in the super stocks at Lake Geneva Raceway on July 31 by taking the win in the feature event. Genoa City's John Janssen, second in season points, was runner-up. Antioch's Tom Maki was third, McHenry's Adam Regnier fourth, Antioch's Dan Huber fifth, Lake Zurich's Marty Robb sixth, and Antioch's Doug Peterson, who won a heat race, finished ninth. Other top finishers included Cary's Bob Koidahl 10th while Wauconda's Jim Hughes won the semi-feature and heat race.

Point leader and fast qualifier Scott Poritz of Burlington, Wis. won the sportsman feature and Chris Wangrow of Woodstock was eighth. Landry Potter of Delavan, Wis. won his first super-late model feature of the season and Park City's Danny Darnell kept close to point leader Al Schill with a seventh place effort. Schill, from Franklin, leads Darnell 2,910-2,860. Crystal Lake's Mark Simonsen was eighth finished McHenry's Joe Fisher 10th.

Clayton Kruse won the Legend cars feature. Lake Geneva hosts stadium mo-tocross at 8 p.m. this Friday. Super late models, super stocks, sportsman and sport trucks are scheduled for this Saturday, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Seven-time champion and point leader Russ Scheffler of Waukesha, Wis. scored his second "clean sweep" of the season in the Nostalgia McDonald's of Gurnee sponsored UMP late model July 31 at Hales Corners Speedway in Franklin, Wis. Hales hosts weekly Saturday racing with UMP late models, sportsman, modifieds and Hales Whales at 7:30 p.m.

Tony Elliott won the Interstates Racing Association (IRA) Outlaw Sprints feature at Benton County Speedway in Indiana July 31. The IRA travels to Farmer City Raceway in central Illinois this Friday, then on to Butler Motor Speedway in Quincy, Mich. on Saturday.

After this weekend, the IRA takes almost two weeks off, allowing several competitors to journey to Knoxville (Iowa) Raceway for the annual nationally televised nationals August 11-14. Watch the column for updates on Lakeland area sprint car competitors heading to Knoxville.

My final trip to Elkhart Lake's Road America four-mile course proved enjoyable as always. The annual Brian Redman International Challenge for historic and vintage race cars saw over 500 competitors.

The Can Am Thunder feature was captured by Craig Bennett of Brighton, Michigan, in his family owned 1971 Lola T222 that was originally driven by Dave Causey.

Lakeland area finishers included: Lake Forest's Steve Seers 15th overall, 6th in the 3A class; Crystal Lake's Bob Mayer 22nd/4F fourth; Barrington's Ed Lead fifth/8B fourth; Lincolnshire's Philip Collin competed in group 1A with a 1966 Porsche 911.

Watch for some surprise announcements regarding the 2000 Road America schedule to be released sometime after January 1.

Until next time, "Let's Go Racing!!"

10-year-old All-stars advance to state

The 10-year-old Antioch all-star team battled their way back from a 6-2 deficit in the Sectional Tournament Championship game against Crystal Lake. Antioch scored 10 runs in the bottom of the third inning to take a 12-6 lead, and never looked back en route to a 13-8 victory.

Chuckie Kempf and Royce Appelgren combined their pitching efforts for the win, with outstanding defense in the field and timely hitting from the entire team to backing them up. Antioch was 4-1 in the tournament and will represent Antioch at the State Tournament in Robinson, IL. This is first team from Antioch Youth Baseball to win a Sectional Tournament and advance to a State Tournament since the leagues inception 35 years ago.

12-year-old All-stars

The 12-year-old Antioch all-star team lost a close game against Norridge 6-5. The were 1-2 in the tournament.

C'mon Babe!!!

Early registration for 1999 Chicago Triathlon

The Mrs. T's Chicago Triathlon, the world's largest triathlon, has already received 1,800 entries for the 1999 race, which is set for Aug. 29. Race organizers are encouraging interested participants to register as early as possible to be assured a spot in the competition.

Last year's race closed 10 days before the event when over 4,900 entries had been received. While the participant field has been increased to 5,200 for this year's race, Race Director Jan Caille expects the race to close early for the second straight year.

For more information on the Mrs. T's Chicago Triathlon, call (773) 404-2372 or to register on-line visit www.caprivents.com.

The Mrs. T's Chicago Triathlon will host the USA Triathlon Pro-National Championship for the first time since 1989 and will also host the USA Triathlon Clydesdale and Athena National Championships for the second straight year. The Mrs. T's Chicago Triathlon will again feature Sprint and Olympic distance competitions and offers 29 qualifying spots for the 1999 Hawaii Ironman®.

The 17th annual Mrs. T's Chicago Triathlon is the climax of a week-end which highlights multi-sport competition. Other events include the Sports Authority Super Sprint Triathlon and the Dannon Danimals Kids Triathlon on Saturday, Aug. 28. Competitors and multisport fans alike are also welcome to attend the Endurox multisport expo at the Hilton Chicago and Towers on Aug. 27 and Aug. 28.

ACHS girls golf to begin Aug. 16

On Monday, Aug. 16, the Antioch Community High School Varsity and JV girls golf teams will begin practice at Spring Valley Golf Course in Salem, Wis.

Double-session practices during the entire first week will start at 7 a.m. and end at approximately 10 a.m., with the evening sessions beginning at 6 p.m. Spring Valley golf course is located in Salem, Wis. on Route 83 about three miles north of Antioch. In order to begin practice, each golfer must have a current physical exam on file, along with properly completed Athletic Clearance Form.

ACHS girls golf coach, Steve Wapon, has emphasized that "no experience is necessary" in order to try out for golf at ACHS this fall.

"Besides an outstanding varsity schedule, we have a full JV schedule of meets that will be helpful for our younger golfers," he said.

Along with varsity tournaments at Barrington, Waukegan and Campaign, the Sequoits will again host the Antioch Invitational at Hunter Country Club. The JV linksters will compete in the Waukegan Invite, as well as hosting the annual Antioch JV Quadrangular Tournament at Raymond Heights Golf Course. In the North Suburban Conference, the Sequoits will play a dual-meet schedule followed by a season-end Varsity-JV Conference Tournament, which will be preceded by the IHSA State Tournament. Non-conference opponents scheduled during the 1999 season will include: Barrington, Buffalo Grove, Deerfield, Evanston, Hersey, Kenosha Tremper, New Trier, Palatine, Regina Dominican, Waukegan and Westosha Center.

Any girl interested in learning to play golf should plan to attend the practice sessions. There are also a limited number of starter golf club sets available for golfers to use during the season. Wapon also indicated that any parents or golfers with questions should not hesitate to call Antioch High School at (847) 395-1421, ext. 246, or attend practice on Aug. 16 at 7 a.m.

Spyder: A convertible designed from the ground up

Mitsubishi Motors' Eclipse Spyder — the first U.S. assembled production convertible by a Japanese manufacturer — was specifically designed as a production convertible, unlike many sport coupes that have undergone alterations to modify them into convertibles. Both the Eclipse Spyder GS and turbocharged Spyder GS-T feature platform and body reinforcements to enhance chassis-rigidity and control noise, vibration and harshness (NVH).

The Eclipse Spyder is assembled in Normal, Illinois, with its Eclipse coupe cousins, receiving special treatment all along the assembly line. The already rigid Eclipse coupe platform gains approximately 121 pounds in structural enhancements: the header panel is strengthened and fitted with top-latch receivers, the A-pillars are reinforced and stronger front/rear floor sections and quarter panels are used to add to the platform's integrity.

In addition, a crossbrace has been added behind the rear seat to provide support for the rear deck assembly and to provide further torsional rigidity for the body.

Engines:

Eclipse Spyder GS is powered by a 2.4-liter 4-cylinder engine, an engine used in no other Eclipse model. This large displacement, high torque 4-cylinder generates 141-horsepower at 5,500 rpm and a quick-responding 148 lbs.-ft of torque at 3,000 rpm.

Eclipse Spyder GS-T is powered by a 210-horsepower 2.0-liter turbocharged and intercooled 4-cylinder engine also found in Eclipse GS-T and GSX sports coupes.

Both engines feature Dual Engine Stabilizers, counter-rotating shafts inside the engine block that offset the vibrations typical of large displacement 4-cylinder engines. In addition, the 2.4-liter

ECLIPSE: Features platform and body reinforcements to enhance chassis-rigidity and turbocharged 2.0-liter engines have cast iron blocks with aluminum cylinder heads for reduced weight and improved cooling, 4-valves-per-cylinder for improved breathing characteristics, electronically controlled sequential fuel injection, and hydraulic valve lash adjusters that eliminate the need for periodic adjustment.

To reduce NVH transferred from the engine to the rest of the vehicle, both Eclipse Spyder models replace two of the coupe's four engine mounts with vibration-absorbing liquid-filled engine mounts. The two remaining engine mounts are of a traditional rubber and steel design.

Transmissions:

A 5-speed manual gearbox is standard for both Eclipse Spyder GS and GS-T with an optional 4-speed automatic with overdrive that features adaptive transmission control and an electronic engine/transmission interactive control system.

Adaptive control ensures that the transmission maintains the appropriate gear when climbing hills, virtually eliminating the sporadic "hunting" between gears that is common in many automatics.

Additionally, the system resists shifting during cornering, and will downshift automatically for engine braking when the vehicle is traveling down hills under braking.

This automatic also "talks" to the engine through the electronic control engine management computer, allowing the engine to reduce power for a split second during shifts. The result is reduced shift shock during normal driving, allowing more consistent and coordinated performance during hard acceleration.

Suspension:

The 4-wheel multi-link layout consists of an upper A-arm, two lower transverse links and an upright link, connecting the upper and lower suspension control arms, on which the wheel hub is mounted.

The rear multi-link suspension incorporates an upper A-arm, a lower semi-trailing link and two lower split-level lateral links. An upright link connects the upper and lower control arms, and serves as the wheel hub carrier. Eclipse Spyder GS utilizes a front stabilizer bar for added control, while Eclipse Spyder GS-T is equipped with standard front and rear stabilizer bars as well as sport-tuned shock absorbers to provide controlled, flat cornering.

The spring rates of both Eclipse Spyder models have been revised to enhance handling characteristics of the new convertibles and to optimize control of the increased weight, added by the chassis-strengthening structural components and convertible top assemblies.

Brakes:

For improved heat dissipation and enhanced braking performance during severe conditions such as mountainous driving, Eclipse Spyder models are equipped with power-assisted fully ventilated front disc brakes. Eclipse Spyder GS-T is fitted with solid rear discs, while the GS has rear drums.

Don't let your vehicle fall prey to auto theft

As the most mobile society in the world, Americans have paid the price in auto theft. A vehicle is stolen every 20 seconds in this country, at a cost of $8 billion per year. Virtually everyone is susceptible, as the age of your car and its location appear to have little bearing on who will be victimized. In fact, the 10 most stolen vehicles in the country are at least four years old and are snatched from personal driveways, neighborhood streets and shopping mall and city parking lots.

But you can lower your risk of losing your car — or at least ease the sting — if you put the following advice into practice:

Before You Leave Home

Make sure you have a record of all pertinent information regarding your vehicle stored safely at home, that includes the make, model, year, a copy of the registration, Vehicle Identification Number (VIN), license plate number, insurance company and policy number. Take a picture of your car periodically, including any specially installed equipment; this will help you to prove current condition/worth in the event that it is stolen. Also save the receipts for all major work done on the car.

The easier your car and its parts are to identify, the better. Have the VIN etched on windows and door panels, radios and other expensive accessories. Drop your business card under floor mats and down through window slots so they rest hidden between the door panels. This makes it easier to identify the car as yours should the police recover it.

Invest in an anti-theft device. They run the gamut in price, so find one that fits your budget. Remember, the theory here is that something is better than nothing. You can choose among alarms, steering wheel and ignition locks, vehicle tracking systems, keyless entries, locking gas caps and fuel "kill" switches.

When Parking

It should go without saying, but never leave a running vehicle unattended. Always lock your car, and take your keys with you — no matter how quickly you'll return! Close the windows completely (including the sunroof), engage the emergency break and turn your wheels sharply to the curb. This will make it harder for potential thieves to tow your car.

Park in well-lit areas where vehicle and foot traffic will deter theft, and don't leave a key hidden on the vehicle. Carry any spares in your purse or wallet. Likewise, don't leave your registration and/or title in the glove box as this makes it easier for a thief to sell your car.

Place any valuables — packages, cell phones, radios, purses, briefcases, laptop computers — out of sight (locked in the trunk is best) or take them with you.

If you're leaving your car for an extended period of time, remove the rotor from the distributor and lock it in the trunk.

If You Should Become an Unfortunate Victim

Contact the police immediately, offering information about the location, the time you left your vehicle and when you returned, and any identifying marks on the car, such as VIN etching on the windows, doors and accessories. Have your vehicle registration handy, as well as the make, model, year, color and license plate number of the car.

Likewise, contact your insurance agent immediately.

Safety features top priority among new-vehicle owners

Safety-related automotive features account for eight of the top 10 new technology features demanded by consumers, according to the J.D. Power and Associates 1999 Automotive Performance, Execution and Layout (APEAL) Feature Contenting Report released last week.

Side-impact and "smart" passenger air bags, as well as run-flat tires, electronic traction control and adaptive cruise control are examples of new technology safety features in high demand.

The report shows that consumers are willing to pay an average of $250 each for safety features on their next new vehicle. Anti-lock braking systems remain the most desired safety feature among consumers surveyed, with 93 percent reporting they want this feature on their next vehicle.

"Consistent consumer demand for ABS has resulted in this feature becoming standard on the majority of new vehicles sold today," said Jacques daCosta, senior manager of product research at J.D. Power. "It is important that automotive manufacturers and suppliers address consumer demand for new features as they have with ABS, in order to achieve high levels of customer satisfaction and optimize vehicle content where the demand is the greatest."

New technology equipment such as navigation systems, hybrid transmissions and auto personal computers are increasingly gaining acceptance in consumers' minds, despite being available on a limited number of vehicles.

On average, consumers are willing to pay between $400 and $500 for these features. New to the industry and still evolving, these features are in demand by a substantial proportion of consumers, primarily in the luxury car and truck segments.

While light trucks in general, but specifically SUVs and pickups, are equipped with an increasing level of creature comforts, many still lack the latest safety and new technology features found in their car counterparts. Features such as side-impact and "smart" passenger air bags, run-flat tires and hybrid transmissions continue to emerge on luxury vehicles, yet are virtually non-existent across the light truck segments.

"The newness of these technologies, along with the costs associated with emerging features, limits them to very few light-truck vehicles," daCosta said. "However, targeting these safety and technology features to truck buyers will maximize application and technology features to truck buyers will consumers."

The report examined the desirability of 43 traditional and emerging features in categories of vehicle safety, performance, comfort and convenience. More than 40,000 owners of 1999 and early release 2000 model-year vehicles were asked which features they currently have, which features they want on their next vehicles, and how much they are willing to pay for them.

2000 Buick LeSabre on design

William L. Porter, recently retired chief of Buick Exterior Design Studio No. 1, guided the design of the 2000 Buick LeSabre as one of his last major assignments. Returning to review the car in final form, he provides this description of the new model from a design perspective.

Exterior Design

"One of the first things that becomes apparent when you look at the new LeSabre is its improved stance, the way the body sits on its new, wider tread. The new LeSabre also conveys a sense of substance. It looks solid and strong, a car that a lot of people will like. The new LeSabre looks faithful, true, strong, safe, and absolutely reliable. Yet it's sleek and nice looking without being stodgy. There's a certain elegance in the roofline and the way the car is carefully detailed.

"The basic theme of the car is a central fuselage shape beginning with the oval grille and sweeping full length through the roof and decklid to the full width oval of its taillamp. The fenders flank this central oval form somewhat like epaulets. That crease continues all the way to the rear bumper, which is cut low in the center portion to drop the lift-over height as low as possible for convenient trunk loading.

"There's a strong family resemblance between LeSabre and other Buicks but this car clearly has its own identity. It's purposely a little less formal than Park Avenue. The oval grille with vertical texture is immediately recognizable as Buick. Wall-to-wall taillamps are another divisional cue. The execution of the license plate surround with the integrated back-up lamps is an evolution of the current LeSabre design but significantly more prominent, thanks to the top and bottom chrome wings.

"One new feature is the blending of the front fascia up and around the top of the grille so the whole front and becomes more unified. The headlamps use clear lenses with very clean looking parabolic reflectors.

"The front-end construction of Park Avenue and LeSabre are different. Each car shares a family resemblance but also upon closer inspection has a very distinctive look. In the recent past, Park Avenue and LeSabre were very close cousins as far as exterior design. But it's clear with this new model that each one is taking on very different overall characteristics. Except for the aluminum wheels provided in the LeSabre's Gran Touring package, it will share nothing visually with the Park Avenue in the 2000 model year.

"Over the years we've found that LeSabre buyers are definitely interested in new things in spite of their conservative lifestyles. They do want state-of-the-art. They want modern conveniences in a style appropriate to their taste. So we've made the new LeSabre not only better looking but also functionally superior to the car it replaces.

"An excellent example is exterior rear-view mirrors that are significantly larger, streamlined for low drag and improved wind noise performance, and hinged to minimize the likelihood of breakage when bumped by a pedestrian or a door frame while entering a tight garage.

"We now manage water off the roof and windshield so it's caught in A-pillar channels to keep it from streaking the side windows and mirrors. That continues into the roof where two gutters — one a couple of inches in from the door opening, the other a rubber seal that stands up when the door is opened — guard against water raining down on occupants. The back glass is fitted with channels similar to those used around the windshield for the same purpose.

2000 Buick LeSabre

"Side moldings are body color and they blend with the side sculpture nicely but they still provide excellent protection from shopping cart door dings. The side molding theme from the door area is repeated in front and rear bumper fascias for continuity's sake. Like wide, front and rear marker lamps both have five small reflex fingers to help identify the corners of the car with a continuous design element.

Interior Design

"The most distinctive interior feature is the instrument panel that wraps neatly into the door design. The wrap-around treatment lends a spacious feeling which is particularly appreciated by Buick customers. It also imparts a sense of confidence that you're surrounded by a safe, substantial automobile. When the instrument panel and the doors are tied together aesthetically, you feel like there's one continuous structure instead of a collection of individual parts.

"Buick owners are very family activity oriented so they're not interested in any barrier between front seat occupants. They definitely want just one cockpit for all front passengers, not twin side-by-side cockpits.

"They enjoy having a place to store things. You see, Buick owners actually drive and use their cars regularly on long trips. They think nothing of a 500-mile day trip or 1,000 miles over two days to is it the kids in college or extended family members.

"As opposed to the import owner who has a hot sport sedan but lacks the time to use it, Buick owners actually do spend time on the road.

Alfresco fairy tale

Garden weddings combine natural beauty with romance

By KELLY C. DUCKWORTH
Staff Intern

Imagine standing under a canopy of trees, sunlight filtering through, illuminating the wedding ceremony of two people uniting in love.

The surrounding beauty of mother nature sets the mood for one of the most memorable days in any couples' lives.

Rachel Burcham, of Round Lake, and Matthew Wilson, of Waukegan, shared this dream in such a setting last month.

White origami doves hung from the trees and "Pachelbel Canon in D" serenaded the 200 family members and friends as they awaited the young bride.

Wearing a traditional white satin chiffon dress and white babies breath in her hair, instead of a veil, the bride was escorted by her father, James Burcham, out the back door of the beloved home she had spent a majority of her life growing up in.

The proud father and glowing bride walked down the long back yard through the grass to the lakeside altar where the groom and the bridal party awaited dressed in black tuxedos and

The outdoor wedding of Rachel Burcham and Matthew Wilson (above) went on as planned despite rain earlier in the day. The site of the wedding, on Long Lake, is also the home of the bride's parents. periwinkle bridesmaid dresses.

All were barefoot, adding to the uniqueness of this garden wedding.

Underneath a white archway at the edge of Long Lake, secluded and intimate, with the waves crashing on the shore and a breeze dancing through the trees, Rachel and Matthew were married by the honorable Judge David Hall, of Waukegan.

Jennivee Lange, the bride's mother, made the bride's dress as well as the bridesmaids and flower girl's dresses, with the designs and request's of Rachel's liking.

The dresses were very simple, yet elegant.

Lange, in regards to the bride's dress, said, "It is definitely an outdoor dress. No sleeves, rounded neck and appliquéed butterflies on the train."

They were tasteful designs that added to the simplicity of the wedding and did not distract the eye from the colorful natural setting.

The ceremony resembled that of a piece of art work that Claude Monet could have easily captured in a painting.

Planning for this wedding was anything but simple.

"It looks simple but there is a lot behind it. We spent one-and-a-half months of planning for the backyard alone," Rachel said.

"It is a lot of work but it is worth it once it is over and done with. It will be something Rachel and Matt will remember forever," James Burcham said.

ALFRESCO: Garden weddings romantic

Outdoor weddings are unique, but unpredictable weather can add challenges to the already intricate planning.

Where do you rush more than 200 guests and the bridal party when the rain escapes from the clouds and literally dampens your parade?

"Weather is the most important factor," Melodee Hall, office manager at Illinois Beach State Park Resort in Zion, said.

Always make sure there is a back-up plan if the weather does alter the arrangements. For Rachel and Matthew, their Plan B included moving the ceremony to The Parkway by the Lake in Ingleside where the reception was held.

"It looks simple but there is a lot behind it," Rachel said.

The planning began after Rachel and Matthew's January 1999 engagement.

"We had no coordinators and it worked out well," Rachel said.

Planning for this unforgettable day meant detailing the back yard with dozens of flowers and making sure that the grass was watered regularly to prevent any withering or scorching by the summer's heat wave.

Pam Adams, special events coordinator at Cuneo Museums in Vernon Hills, has been coordinating garden weddings for two seasons and has seen a wide variety of unique outdoor wedding ceremonies.

One perk to having an outdoor wedding, is the option to go barefoot. Rachel Burcham and Matthew Wilson put their best feet forward for their July nuptials.—Photo by Sandy Bressner

She has even coordinated the fairy tale wedding for couples who have chosen to arrive Cinderella-style in a white horse and carriage.

She said, "You have to be a good sport. You have to know you are taking your chances."

At Cuneo, garden weddings take place each weekend from Mother's Day until Labor Day on the ground's outdoor stage. The ceremony is held amidst rose gardens, a columned walkway overlooking the swimming pool and in the foreground of the Cuneo mansion.

"There have been some real lavish and nice weddings. They each have their own flavor and visions,"

Adams said.

Adams commented that garden weddings are more relaxed than traditional church ceremonies, however they require remembering many more details.

She suggested that when planning a garden wedding, dress accordingly, meaning the bride is not required to wear spiked heels and the groom is not obligated to wear the traditional three-piece suit.

"There are so many options today for outdoor weddings because of the popularity, especially during the summer months," Kimberly Heeres, owner of Kimberly's Bridal and Boutique in Lakemoor, said.

"Everything is becoming simpler and less elaborate," she said.

Ted Draper, owner of The Bridal Path in Santa Rosa, Cal., said, "First pick out the location and book it. Then from there set the budget."

Despite the many obstacles that you have to overcome when planning any wedding, and especially an outdoor garden wedding, in the end there is a couple united in love that will have an unforgettable beginning to a lifetime of memories.

The newly married Wilson's added one last unique detail to their wedding—a boat escort to the reception in place of the traditional limo.

As with any marriage comes the long awaited honeymoon. The Wilson's inaugurated the beginning of their life together by sailing into the sunset on the 130-foot schooner, the "Western Union" in Key West, Fla.

Blarney Island is busting out with... patriotism?

I never noticed this until recently, but there is something about Blarney Island that inspires strong feelings of patriotism in some of the folks who visit there.

Blarney Island, in case you are one of the "uninitiated," is a tavern built in the middle of Grass Lake. You can either steer and dock your own boat there or you can buy a ride on the shuttle barge that runs out to the island regularly from the Port of Blarney marina on shore.

Personally, when thinking about my prior visits to Blarney Island, I can honestly say that the word "patriotism" never before entered my mind. Exhibitionism, hedonism, voyeurism, or alcoholism, maybe, but never "patriotism."

It was a friend of ours (who, for the purposes of this article, we'll call "Lincoln" as in "Abraham Lincoln") who introduced me to this new way of thinking about the island. Lincoln and his wife had invited us to accompany them, along with another couple, out to Blarney Island on a recent Saturday to hear a band they liked.

Actually, this was the second trip out to the island in two weeks for both Lincoln and my husband who, by sheer coincidence, is sometimes called "Abe" by his friends. Lincoln and Abe, along with several other gentlemen (and I use the term "gentlemen" loosely in this story) had been to Blarney Island just one week before, where they enjoyed VIP seating for the Miss Chain O'Lakes bikini contest.

For those of you who have never seen this contest (I'm with you), "Abe" informs me that it requires the contestants to parade in front of the judges and audience in various attire: daywear, evening wear and, the indisputable crowd favorite, thong bikinis. However, unlike other beauty contests, the entrants do not have to answer any questions nor do they have to display any talents, at least none that I would like to describe in detail here.

Anyway, it was from the bikini contest experience that these patriotic feelings seemed to "spring up" about Blarney Island. As Lincoln showed us some pictures from the prior week's outing, he was practically bursting with...patriotism:

"Check out these contest pictures! Damn, I love my country! Where else could you find a place like Blarney Island? All I can say is God bless America!"

While Lincoln was giving his "Blarneysburg Address," we happened to be viewing a picture of one of the contestants, and sure enough, she did look somewhat patriotic. She was wearing a red, white and blue bikini, and I do believe that if there had been more material, it could have been a flag. An itty bitsy, teeny weeny little flag, but still a flag.

Also, I suppose you could say that the men in the picture who were

LIFE'S A BEAR

observing the contest looked patriotic, too. In fact, it appeared as though they were saluting the flag-covered contestant (and I use the word "covered" loosely). Of course, they salute a little differently here on the island—usually by raising whichever hand is holding a cold, alcoholic beverage and yelling, "Salute!" (Although most folks who have been on the island for several hours pronounce it "Shalute!")

Anyway, I was starting to see how Lincoln had gotten himself all worked up. Into a patriotic mood, I mean. But isn't our country dedicated to the proposition that "all men are created equal?" Because I, along with the other ladies, had detected from the pictures some definite inequalities in the contestants'...ahem...credentials.

"Those are not real. And neither are those," we gleefully informed Mr. Lincoln.

He remained statesmanlike. "Yeah? So?"

"Well, it's not fair. You're not comparing apples with apples. Or in this case, cantaloupes. Several of those women have had surgical enhancements."

The rest of the "statesmen" now raised their voices in support of Mr. Lincoln: "Yeah? So? Who cares?"

Apparently, not them. As far as they were concerned, all women are created equal, no matter where their...cantaloupes came from.

Still, we weren't convinced. We decided to put their beliefs to the test.

"Okay, fellas, then how about this...if you had a choice between buying that pontoon boat together that you've been talking about, or paying for all three of us to have surgically enhanced...cantaloupes, which would you choose?"

Strangely enough, they all picked the boat. Which could mean that:

1. They love us just the way we are, or

2. With a boat, they can make more trips to Blarney Island to soak up some...patriotism.

More likely, however, the answer is 3: They were afraid if they answered "surgical enhancement," we would assume they were unhappy with our present...fruit.

Amazing, isn't it? A couple days at Blarney Island, and everyone's a politician.

Must be the thongs.

Questions or comments for humorist Donna Abear can be sent to P.O. Box 391, Antioch, IL 60002.

HOROSCOPE

Aries — March 21/April 20

While you should speak your mind when it comes to a business matter early in the week, Aries, do it tactfully. You don't want to offend some important people who are involved in the conversation. A close friend wants to go out with you this weekend. Make time for him or her.

Taurus — April 21/May 21

Don't give up too easily when it comes to getting something that you really want this week, Taurus. This is worth the extra effort. Turn to loved ones for help if you need it. A close friend wants your advice about a romantic problem. Think before you speak, because he or she is hanging on your every word.

Gemini — May 22/June 21

You have an important financial meeting this week, Gemini. Be prepared for it. Don't go into this without doing any research, or you could miss out on a potentially lucrative opportunity. A loved one gets into trouble and needs your help. Do what you can for him or her.

Cancer — June 22/July 22

Don't let your emotions get the best of you when having an important discussion with a loved one. Try to stay calm, and voice your opinions rationally. That's the only way to make your point. The person whom you've been seeing is going through a difficult time this week. Try to be supportive.

Virgo plays a key role.

Leo — July 23/August 23

A close friend turns to you for advice about a personal problem. While you want to help, don't. He or she needs to work this out alone. That special someone takes you out for a night on the town this weekend. Enjoy yourself, because you deserve it.

Virgo — Aug 24/Sept 22

Business associates are depending on you to finish an important project. Don't let them down. Work diligently to get things done—even if that means canceling personal plans. Your efforts will be rewarded down the line. A loved one gives you an unexpected gift. Show him or her how much you appreciate it.

Libra — Sept 23/Oct 23

As much as you don't want to, you have to make an important personal decision this week. Look at all of the pros and cons first. Don't be impetuous. Remember, you're looking out for your own best interest. A loved one invites you to a family gathering. Say yes, because it's sure to be fun.

Scorpio — Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't get upset when a loved one's temper flares. This person really isn't mad at you; he or she is just having a bad day. Listen to him or her vent. Your attention will be appreciated. An acquaintance asks to borrow money. Think about how reliable this person is before agreeing.

Sagittarius — Nov 23/Dec 21

It's smooth sailing for you this week, Sagittarius. You have an easy schedule and a light workload. Take some time for yourself, and do things that you haven't been able to enjoy for a while. Take advantage of this downtime, because things will get hectic soon. Aquarius plays an important role on Wednesday.

Capricorn — Dec 22/Jan 20

You have a lot to do this week, Capricorn. Don't let those around you distract you from the tasks at hand. Work diligently to get things done. Even though you think that no one is paying attention, someone is. Your efforts will be rewarded. A loved one needs a shoulder to cry on. Be there for him or her.

Aquarius — Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't let a business associate use you as a scapegoat this week. He or she is trying to look good at your expense. Stand up for yourself. The higher-ups will know that you're telling the truth. That special someone is exceptionally quiet this week. Do your best to find out what's wrong.

Pisces — Feb 19/March 20

While all that you want to do is relax this week, Pisces, a friend needs your help with a family problem. Do what you can for him or her—even if it involves a lot of work. He or she would do the same for you.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Horses and competitors gather for Young Rider's Championships

Illinois and Wisconsin will be represented at the North American Young Rider's Championships (NAYRC), Aug. 10-15 at Tempel Farms in Old Mill Creek, as riders from those states compete with more than 200 others, age 16-21, in this international competition presented by State Line Track. The NAYRC is the premier equestrian event in North America for riders of this age. Competitors from North America, South America, Central America, Bermuda and the Caribbean will come together in an Olympic Games type of atmosphere at Tempel Farms, the site of the prestigious equine event. Recognized by the Equestre Internationale (FEI), the international governing body for equestrian sport, and held in accordance with FEI general regulations, the NAYRC is comprised of three equestrian disciplines—Show Jumping, Dressage and Eventing.

Northbrook resident Joanne Chmiel, age 19, will compete in the Dressage division. Last year, Chmiel was part of the Dressage Silver Medal Team in which she competed with a horse that was loaned to her by a teammate. This year Chmiel will go for the gold on her horse, Dominion.

One of Chmiel's teammates will be 21-year-old J.J. Tate of Fort Atkinson, located in Southeastern Wis. This will be the third NAYRC competition for Tate. She will compete with her horse, Wjetro, a stallion she purchased in Hungary where she studied classical Dressage for two years. After the NAYRC, Tate will turn professional with her long-term goal being Olympic competition.

Competing for the first time at the NAYRC are six young riders with physical and mental disabilities. Presented in conjunction with ACORD (American Competition Opportunities for Riders and Disabilities), each rider will perform a dressage musical freestyle ride competing for individuals medals and ribbons.

Tempel Farms was last host to the NAYRC in 1997. The Farms are widely considered among the finest equestrian centers in North America with extraordinary facilities, excellent footing, and a challenging cross-country course. Tempel Farms is best known as home to the world's largest privately-owned herd of rare Lipizzan horses, and it is the only place in the world where breeding, training and performance of the "dancing white stallions," as they are known, take place on the same property.

Tempel Farms is located at 17000 Wadsworth Road in Old Mill Creek. One-day tickets for the events of August 13-15 are priced at $5. Unlimited admission for all three days is $12 (admission is free to preliminary events on August 11th and 12th). All tickets can be purchased at the event. For additional information, call 295-3285.

ART

Summer art camp at Anderson Arts Center

The Anderson Arts Center - 121 66th Street, Kenosha, Wis. - will present its annual Summer Art Camp for children between the ages of 5 and 10 during August 9-13.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Save-A-Pet anniversary party

August 7-8 Save-A-Pet will host the 27th anniversary and reunion on the shelter grounds on Fairfield Road in Grayslake. Save-A-Pet is a no-kill shelter for homeless dogs and cats.

The usual shelter hours on the weekend are 11 a.m.-6 p.m. Sat. will see the Blessing of the Animals at 2 p.m., followed by a Pet Parade of these animals. On Sunday there will be a Pancake Breakfast ($4) from 8:30-11 a.m. A show of Stupid Pet Tricks takes place at 1 p.m.

Adoptions of the shelter cats and dogs will take place both days.

Radiofest XVIII in Elgin

The Antique Radio Club of Illinois announces Radiofest XVIII, one of the largest annual gatherings of antique radio collectors in the U.S. Radiofest, will be held on Fri. & Sat., Aug. 6 & 7, at the Elgin Plaza Hotel in Elgin. The show brings together more than 750 radio and radio ephemera collectors from around the world and offers collectors family oriented days of activities including an open air radio swap market, contests, large Zenith radio display, presentations and auctions.

Admission is $12, which includes an annual membership in the Antique Radio Club of Illinois, and is good all days of the festival. For details, call the Elgin Plaza Hotel at 695-5000.

PHOTOGRAPHY

Terra Museum to offer Photography Workshop

Joe Ziolkowski, staff photographer for the Museum of Science and Industry, will conduct a photography workshop covering Terra Museum of American Art's latest exhibition, American Photographs: The First Century, from the Isaacs Collection in the National Museum of American Art, Sunday, August 8, from 1-4 p.m., at Terra Museum, 664 N. Michigan Ave., in Chicago.

Entitled, "Photography: How to Use Your Camera and Take Better Pictures," the workshop will explore the tools and language of photography through a demonstration, lecture and slide show presentation.

Cost to attend the workshop is $25 for members and $30 for non-members. Students are asked to bring an adjustable camera. For more information, call the Education Department at Terra Museum at 312-654-2255.

HOBBY

Basket Making

A basket weaving workshop for beginners will be offered at Trees For Tomorrow in Eagle River, WI. Professional basket maker Jane Cotter of Ripon, will be the instructor for the workshop which is set for the weekend of August 6-8.

The cost of the workshop, which includes meals, lodging and instruction, is $140. A commuter rate is available and basket kits are available for $20 each.

Trees for Tomorrow is a natural specialty school offering teacher workshops and adult special interest workshops during the summer. Call 800-838-9472 to register or for more details.

A young Brookfield Zoo guest and her teddy bear pose with a life-size cutout of Teddy Roosevelt during the annual Teddy Bear Picnic.

Get the 'Bear' necessities at the Teddy Bear Picnic

Don't "paws" for a minute, just grab your teddy bear and head to Brookfield Zoo for the annual Teddy Bear Picnic on Sat. and Sun., Aug. 7 and 8. Activities take place from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. both days. At 1 p.m. bear lovers can join in the Teddy Bear Parade, which begins at the zoo's south gate. Afterwards show off your bear-y best furry friend in the Teddy Bear Showcase on the East Mall, where everyone is a winner.

Participants in the showcase will receive goodie bags with teddy bear related items courtesy of Build-A-Bear Workshop and Cherished Teddies. They also will have a chance to receive more prizes courtesy of Cherished Teddies.

If your teddy bear is feeling blue, and possibly in need of some stuffing too, stop by the Quickwell Clinic on the east mall where Brookfield Zoo's specially trained "doctors" will cure whatever is ailing your teddy. Guests can test their bears' I.Q. with the zoo's docents (volunteer educators) at four fun-filled activity stations located also on the Bear Grotto walkway.

At Bear Buffet learn more about the wild and captive diets of the four species of bears that live at Brookfield Zoo by preparing a "meal" for a bear from a variety of plastic foods.

Do you know the link between Teddy Roosevelt, the 26th president of the United States; teddy bears and Brookfield Zoo? Find out the answer by solving a puzzle at the Teddy Roosevelt Station. In addition, guests and their teddies will have the opportunity to have their photos taken with a life-size cutout of Teddy Roosevelt himself.

How do polar bears keep warm? What color is their fur? And, how do sloth bears eat termites? Guests can "feel out" the answers to these questions at the Bear Touch Table Activity Station as docents engage them in hands-on learning games.

At the How Big is Big? Activity Station, guests can combine their weight to see how they compare to Brookfield Zoo's bears.

Dueling witches debate 'Blair Witch'

In October 1994, three student filmmakers disappeared in the woods near Burkittsville, Maryland, while shooting a documentary.

A year later their footage was found."

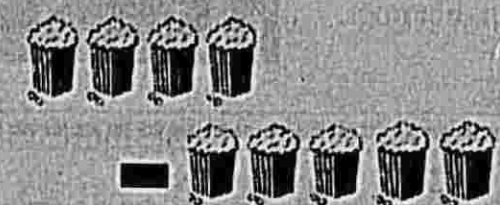

Angela: Like many of this summer's movies, The Blair Witch Project was over-hyped and massively disappointing. Before the movie came out, hundreds of web sites popped up, adding to the build-up. I admit to getting swept up in the excitement of it all, ready for a good old-fashioned fright-fest. However, this is one film that should've been left in the trash at the Sundance Film Festival.

It was supposed to be about a ## movie review

Korrina Grom & Angela D. Sykora

documentary film made by three teens, (Heather Donahue, Michael Williams, Joshua Leonard) searching for proof of a witch blamed for the disappearance of many children from a quaint Maryland town. And they didn't have to convince me it was amateur. That's one aspect they did nail.

The Blair Witch Project wasn't "scary as hell" like some critics said. It didn't even make sense. I'm all for suspense and leaving certain things up to the viewer's imagination, but the audience was left to fill so many holes, the Illinois Department of Transportation was recruiting workers outside the theater.

Not to mention you need to give the audience characters they'll care about, and a screenplay that doesn't resemble the ramblings of a 13-year-old's diary.

Korrina: Well, I completely disagree. I went into this movie without great expectations. I knew what other critics had said, but I went into the movie theater with an open mind and an openness to be scared. Maybe that's why you were disappointed, because you went into it expecting too much. It wasn't like some big-name production.

And I was scared. The movie was intended to be a "documentary," which in itself is a unique concept. I found the film to be very convincing, even though the cameras were a bit jumpy at times.

But that's what the directors intended. And they did a superb job. I could feel the fear that the characters were feeling. When night fell and their fear grew, so did mine. While some audience members strained to hear what the characters heard during their camp-outs, I could hear the noises, whether or not it was on the screen or in my head.

You never saw the Blair Witch, but you didn't have to. She was there, and you knew it. That's what the film does to mess with your psyche.

A: The Blair Witch Project is a glorified episode of "Scooby Doo," but without a stoned hippie, a dopey dog, and the Mystery Machine to keep the good times rollin'.

K: First of all, "Scooby Doo" was not scary.

A: Maybe, but I have scarier home movies from my childhood. I spent the whole 86 minutes waiting for my heart to jump in my throat, but the only thing that got caught in my throat was some stale popcorn.

K: For a movie that cost so little to make, and had essentially no special effects, I was pretty darn scared. The directors relied on mood and imagination, which I guess you didn't use.

A: Actually, I was trying to imagine how Josh and Mike could put up with Heather. Does her vocabulary extend beyond the "F" word? Can she hold a camera steady? Can she be the first one eaten?

K: Okay, maybe she was a bit too liberal with the "F" word. But what can you expect? How would you react if you were lost in the woods, cold and hungry?

A: I don't know, but I could've forgiven the directors for scamming me had they just appeared in the final scene and flipped the audience the bird. Now that's honesty. Don't you think we need more of it?

K: Yes, we do. And honestly, I really liked this movie. The ending was expected but still shocking. It left me wondering; it left me to use my imagination about what really happened; and most of all, it left me scared @#$%-less. I give it four popcorn boxes out of five.

A: Negative 5 for me, Korrina.

Film festival scheduled for Gurnee Cinemas

To celebrate the 75th anniversary of Columbia pictures, Marcus Cinema of Gurnee, will present a two week, 12-film retrospective of some of the studio's most famous films beginning on August 13.

"The Columbia Pictures 75th Anniversary Film Festival features a wide variety of classic films," said Daniel Chapp, festival coordinator for Marcus Cinema. The schedule is made up of the twelve Columbia Pictures featured in the American Film Institute's list of the 100 greatest American films of all time. The film schedule includes: Lawrence of Arabia—August 13-14 (11:45 a.m., 4 p.m., 8:15 p.m.) David Lean's epic 1962 biography of T. E. Lawrence won seven Oscars, including Best Picture and Director.

Dr. Strangelove—August 15-16 (11:45 a.m., 4 p.m., 8:05 p.m.) Stanley Kubrick's 1964 "nightmare comedy" about nuclear annihilation, stars Peter Sellers and George C. Scott.

Easy Rider—August 15-16 (1:55 p.m., 6 p.m., 10:10 p.m.) 1969 drama of two men who go searching for American, starring and co-written by Peter Fonda and Dennis Hopper.

It Happened One Night—August 17 (11:45 a.m., 4:40 p.m., 9:45 p.m.) The first film to win all five major Oscars (Picture, Director, Screenplay, Actor and Actress) was this 1934 comedy from Frank Capra about a runaway heiress and the reporter who dogs and eventually falls for her.

Mr. Smith Goes to Washington—August 17 (2, 7 p.m.) 1939 comedy-drama starring Jimmy Stewart as a freshman senator appalled by the corruption around him.

Bridge on the River Kwai—August 18 (1 p.m., 4:30, 8 p.m.) David Lean's 1957 story of a Japanese POW camp won seven Oscars including Best Picture, Director and Actor for Alec Guinness.

Guess Who's Coming to Dinner—August 19 (11:45, 4:45, 9:45 p.m.) Comedy-drama about a couple forced to examine their own liberal values when their daughter announces she wishes to marry a black man. Spencer Tracy, Katherine Hepburn and Sidney Poitier star in this 1967 blockbuster.

Tootsie—August 19 (2:05, 7:15 p.m.) Sydney Pollack directed this 1982 social comedy starring Dustin Hoffman as a struggling actor whose career takes off only after he disguises himself as a woman.

Close Encounters of the Third Kind—August 20-22 (12, 3, 6, 9 p.m.)

The theatrical premiere of the definitive director's version of Steven Spielberg's 1977 epic of a man's obsession with extra-terrestrial visitors starring Richard Dreyfuss.

From Here to Eternity—August 23-24 (11:45, 4:40, 9:45 p.m.) Fred Zinnemann's outstanding adaptation of James Jones' novel of sex and intrigue in Pearl Harbor at the dawn of WW2 won eight Oscars in 1953. The film stars Burt Lancaster.

On the Waterfront—August 23-24 (2:15, 7:15 p.m.) Elia Kazan's Oscar winning 1954 film about labor racketeering and one man's stand against it starring Marlon Brando and Eva Marie Saint.

Taxi Driver—August 25-26 (11:45, 2:15, 4:45, 7:15, 9:45 p.m.) Martin Scorsese's 1976 study of a New York cab driver's descent into paranoid dementia stars Robert DeNiro, Jodie Foster and Harvey Keitel.

"Gurnee Cinema is very proud to present these classic films on the big screen as they were meant to be seen. With plush stadium seating, state-of-the-art sound and projection and all the comforts today's moviegoers demand there is now better way to see these classic films," Chapp said.

A full festival ticket good for all 12 films is only $24. A ticket for six admissions is $18. For further information call the theatre box-office at 855-9945.

'Reign of Queens' tour

Explores London and Egypt with unique focus

Judy Meisner of Janesville, Wisconsin and an expert on travel in Egypt and Europe, will lead her ninth group to Egypt in February 2000. The comprehensive 15-day tour titled "Reign of Queens" has a particular unique focus and includes London, Egypt and a Nile River cruise. Meisner's interest in this Egyptian country constituted a desire as a child to draw and learn about the pharaohs and the pyramids of the ancient world. She was a former art teacher for twelve years at Phoenix Middle School, Delavan, Wis. Being a single parent, Meisner took out a loan for her first venture to Egypt in 1981 and was overwhelmed by the country, the friendliness of the people, as well as the many magnificent monuments of ancient Egypt. Her fascination led her back to this intriguing country repeatedly for the past eighteen years. In 1988-89 Meisner was hired to work for R&H Voyages as Public Relations Director in Cairo, and now that she has returned to Wisconsin she wants to share the wonders of the country with others.

Meisner's fully escorted tour will depart from O'Hare International Airport February 11, 2000 on British Airways. The deluxe tour will begin each day at the hotel with a continental breakfast in London and a buffet breakfast in Cairo. Queens Victoria and Elizabeth II and Princess Diana, Queens of Hearts, will be the highlight of London. The tour will visit the matrimonial Cathedral of St. Paul's where Princess Diana and Prince Charles were married. The group will see many sites en route to the Tower of London viewing the precious Crown Jewels, then continuing on to Buckingham Palace, seeing the Changing of the Guard or the Beefeaters in uniform. Traveling to Kensington Palace, the former home of Princess Diana, the group will continue on to view Albert Memorial and see Albert Hall, a tribute from his wife, Queen Victoria.

The tour will be visiting the British Museum viewing the ancient exhibits of Egyptian monuments and artifacts from the time of the pharaohs, such as the Rosetta Stone. They will continue to Hampton Court Palace, home of Henry VIII in 1514, where he lived with his many wives. Viewing the countryside while en route to Windsor Castle, which dates back to the 11th century, the group will see the weekend residence of Elizabeth II, also a residence previously of Queen Victoria, and St. George's Chapel.

A free day will be available for the group to explore further museums or enjoy downtown London, such as the spectacular Harrod's then depart the following day for Cairo.

The extravagant queen's of Egypt will be discussed by a favorite private Egyptologist guide of Meisner's previous tours, Fathy Yehia, also enjoyed by her groups. Queen Hatshepsut, who ruled as a king, Nefertari, the wife of Ramses the Great, and Cleopatra, the last pharaoh of Egypt. Each day will begin with breakfast buffet at the Cairo Sheraton, which overlooks the River Nile. A coach will take the group to Giza, south of Cairo, to visit the pyramids, seeing the Great Pyramid, the Royal Burial Chambers and the Sphinx.

They will also visit the fabulous Solar Boat, one of the most amazing pharaonic discoveries, along with enjoying a fascinating camel ride if they choose. Continuing on to Memphis, once the ancient capitol of the Pharaohs, the tour will visit the recumbent statue of Ramses II and the 80-ton alabaster Sphinx. The next stop will be Sakkara to see the first stone construction in the world, the Step Pyramid.

The tour will continue south to the Dahshour Pyramid, also called the Red Pyramid, which was built by King Senefru, father of King Cheops, approximately 4,600 years ago. Tourists will finish the day with a visit to a Papyrus Institute, as well as a rug factory watching children weaving carpets. Meisner will highlight the evening by taking her group to visit a friend's home, which overlooks the pyramids, for an evening meal and to meet his family. Gouda Fayed's father worked with digs by Egyptologists in the pyramid area years ago.

A detailed guided tour through the largest Egyptian Museum of Ancient Antiquities where the group will see fascinating exhibits, such as the treasures of the Tomb of Tutankhamen, then will enjoy a special exhibit in the Mummy Room with a display of more than ten mummies, including the mummy of Ramses II, husband of Queen Nefertari, which was found in perfect condition. The tour will travel to Old Cairo where they will visit the Coptic Church of Abu Serga, dating back to Mary, Joseph and baby Jesus, and the first Synagogue of Cairo, Beni Ezera, which was the area where baby Moses was discovered in a basket by the Pharaohs sister. After venturing down the narrow streets to visit these sites, the group will be driven to the Mosque of Mohammed Ali, an attraction of the new world, and the streets of the Khan el Khalili Bazaar, which is the largest in the Middle East.

Meisner will escort the group for an early flight to Aswan, which is in the south of Egypt, continuing to Abu Simbel to visit the temples of Ramses II and his favorite wife, Nefertari. This complex was moved to its present location 90 feet above its old site to protect it from the rising waters of Lake Nasser and the Nile when the High Aswan Dam was built. Enjoying a short boat ride, tourists will embark at the Philae Temple, then continue to the Granite Caves, later sailing on a felucca to Kitchener Island to the beautiful botanical gardens.

The tour will return each day to a deluxe Nile cruise on the Nile Beauty where we enjoy our overnights, including all meals, as well as a tea at 5 p.m. The River Nile is where Cleopatra entertained Mark Anthony as they sailed from Cairo. The cruise is a delightful experience with games after dinner, or an Oriental dinner one night because Egypt is the beginning of the Orient. After a relaxing cruise on the ship, tourists will stop at Kom Ombo to see the temple of two gods, Sobek, the crocodile god, and Haroris, a falcon god, then sail to Edfu to the Temple of Horus, the falcon god.

After crossing through the locks and reaching Luxor, the group will take a motorboat to the West Banks to see the Tomb of Nefertari early in the morning, which has been newly opened to only 100 people each day. This is one of the best preserved tombs with beautiful paintings and hieroglyphs. Continuing on the Valley of the Kings and the Valley of the Queens, the tour will visit the Tomb of Tutankhamen and others. Enjoy the splendid temple of Queen Hatshepsut, who ruled peaceably for twenty years as a king, finishing the tour by viewing the Colossi of Memnon.

Visiting the East Bank of the Nile, the tour will see the impressive Karnak Temple, the largest temple in Egypt dedicated to the important god Aten, which they have already been introduced to at the Sound and Light Show the first evening in the City of Thebes, City of 100 Gates. After seeing the Obelisks, the Sacred lake and the great Hypostyle Hall, the group will continue to the Temple of Luxor by bus, departing later by EgyptAir and back to Cairo.

A day of leisure in Cairo is offered to further interests in the ancients, or a trip to Alexandria on the Mediterranean Sea, where Cleopatra's palace was located, which may be added to the excursion. The following day the tourists will depart for the USA early in the morning after enjoying a wonderful and educational two weeks.

This pleasurable trip can be enjoyed for only $3596 pp dbl occ, with $795 for a single supplement. Extensions may be added on with an additional cost. For further information please contact Judith Meisner, 2530 West Memorial Drive, Janesville, WI 53545 or telephone (608) 752-1868.

Flight 761 nightmare

Due to what were termed as severe thunderstorms over O'Hare Airport, Wednesday evening, July 21, Flight 761 from San Francisco, carrying "yours truly" went on to Milwaukee Airport. Evidently other planes had the same idea so Flight 761 had to get in line to refuel.

"Everyone please stay seated and buckled up" said the voice of the captain over the intercom "and" he added no one will be permitted to leave the plane." Flight attendants stood in front of each exit. (I felt as though I were being quarantined). I overheard one attendant saying they need eight oxygen tanks for passengers.

As the moments ticked by we found there was no food available and few beverages. Some enterprising attendants brewed coffee and made some lemonade. A flight representative from Milwaukee stated, they are now refueling your plane which will take 45 minutes to one hour (this after sitting on the runway for four hours). But not to worry as hotels would be available for passengers in Chicago. Back at O'Hare, my son had been waiting for me since 7:30 p.m. At 10 p.m. he was told I would be put up at a hotel in Milwaukee so he returned home and wondered why I didn't call him. (We had no access to phones).

Arriving at O'Hare some five to six hours after our scheduled time, we were told, "There are no hotels; they are all filled up. Terminal two was filled to capacity with cots and some were even sleeping on the floor," a staff member related. I finally made arrangements to take the cab home via Air Line vouchers. A young girl carried my luggage out and the cab soon arrived. It was after 3 a.m. when I entered my house and attempted to lug my luggage up the steps as the cabbie had carried it to the bottom of the steps. —By Virginia Krueger

SUMMER Home & Garden '99

Grow your love of gardening into a profitable business

If you are thinking of getting a greenhouse, T.M. Taylor's "Secrets to a Successful Greenhouse and Business" is a good source for learning the basics. It is written in an easy-to-read style, and the many hints and tips on making this hobby fun — and rewarding — are based on Taylor's 20 years of experience in commercial plant production.

This 11-section guide was written to encourage and facilitate the environmentally beneficial and profitable home hobby of growing herbs, vegetables, trees and flowers. Edible flowers, tropical fruits, hydroponically grown vegetables, and native trees and aquatic plants for air and water purification are just some of the interesting reasons why greenhouse growers are becoming an important business occupation in the environmental movement.

Taylor's book is being used to encourage and help develop greenhouse programs in schools to give students a hands-on experience in biology, agriculture and business while producing a profitable crop and a nutritional addition to school lunches.

Taylor identifies many different bedding plants, herbs and vegetables that can be grown easily, and profitable growing practices that produce quality plants, as well as valuable tips on simple plant care, growing medium, organic fertilizers, and safe and natural insect control, are covered.

The section on "Selling, Marketing and Economics" has some very useful ideas about marketing techniques and selling to local and national chains. Charts and tables throughout the book serve as quick reference guides. Taylor also provides a wholesale pricing guide and a complete nursery supply directory.

Where in the yard should you plant a tree?

Planting a tree is like buying a home, in that the three most important matters to consider are location, location and location.

Simply planting a tree correctly does not guarantee that the tree will grow well or meet expectations if it is selected for or planted in the wrong location. It is crucial to consider soil conditions, sun and wind exposure, human activity, drainage, space constraints and other issues before planting trees.

"Properly placed and cared for, trees increase the value of our homes," says R. Dan Neely, president of the International Society of Arboriculture (ISA), a not-for-profit organization dedicated to providing tree-care information. "A healthy landscape improves every aspect of your home — paying big dividends by beautifying surroundings, creating buffers from noise and contributing other enhancements."

Knowing the right location

Neely said there are several tips to keep in mind when selecting the location to plant a tree including:

- Near water—Do not plant water-loving trees, like willows, near septic fields or water sources. Relocate or change tree species.
- Wind Exposure—Align trees for wind screens where they will block winter wind and not where wind will funnel around or between them.

•Seasonal growing patterns—Avoid planting evergreens where they block winter sun. Instead, plant deciduous trees for summer shade and winter solar radiation.

•Space needs—Avoid planting trees too close to the house. Plant further away, or plant smaller trees and shrubs.

•Hazards—Avoid planting trees directly under utility lines. Locate trees away from lines or plant smaller, low-growing trees or large shrubs.

•Root space—Plant trees away from sidewalks to allow root expansion without pavement buckling.

The ISA publishes books, informational brochures and educational posters teaching proper tree care and maintenance. ## COUNTY DIGEST

Gonwa sworn in again

The Lake County Regional Office of Education hosted a reception and open house, in conjunction with the oath of office ceremony for Lake County Superintendent of Schools Edward J. Gonwa, who began his new term of office on Aug. 2.

The event took place in Conference Room E-125 at the Lake County Regional Office of Education. Lake County Clerk Willard Helander and Chief Judge Henry C. Tonigan III officiated at the ceremony swearing Gonwa into for his third term of office.

Bat programs offered

Due to popular demand, the Lake County Forest Preserves will offer additional "Going Batty" programs this summer. Openings are still available for the Friday, Aug. 13 and Sunday, Aug. 15 programs, which will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Lakewood Forest Preserve near Wauconda.

The program is open to adults and families with children six years and older. The cost is $5 ($4 for Lake County residents). Reservations and pre-payment is required.

Garrett meets seniors

State Rep. Susan Garrett (R-Lake Forest) is sponsoring a districtwide discussion with seniors on Aug. 9.

The meeting will be held at 1 p.m. at the Park Place Senior Center, 414 S. Lewis Ave., Waukegan.

Lake County Fair fares well despite the heat

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

Although sweltering heat kept crowds down somewhat, Lake County Fair officials were pleased overall with the turnout for this year's event.

"I thought for what the weather was like we had a good week," said David Bonner, secretary for the Lake County Fair Association Board.

Final attendance figures this year for the fair were 196,691, compared to last year's record breaking total of 250,193. An average year's fair attendance generally hovers around 200,000.

This year's fair ran from July 26 to Aug. 1.

Bonner said the sweltering temperatures, which reached into the upper 90s and even cracked the 100 mark, kept crowds down during the early part of the week.

However, cooler weekend weather helped attendance and Saturday and Sunday were "very good attendance days," according to Bonner.

"We had excellent attendance over the weekend. We had more than 50,000 people on Sunday," he said.

Some of the fair's major attractions during the week included the Lake County fair pageants; demolition derbies; motocross and other races; truck and tractor pulls; racing pigs; a professional contest rodeo; 4-H animal exhibits; a petting zoo; and country music entertainment.

The carnival midway also operated throughout the fair, with a variety of rides, games and other activities.

Fair association executive secretary Mary Gunia said despite the

Grayslake contingent supports CLC

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

Grayslake community leaders say there is strong support for locating the proposed University Center at the College of Lake County, despite the claims of the developer for the Lakehurst site in Waukegan.

Tim Perry, president of the Grayslake Chamber of Commerce, and other Grayslake officials addressed the College of Lake County Board of Trustees to show their support for the CLC site.

"The point being is to reassure the College of Lake County Board of Trustees that there is strong support for the University Center to be sited in Grayslake," Perry said in a later interview.

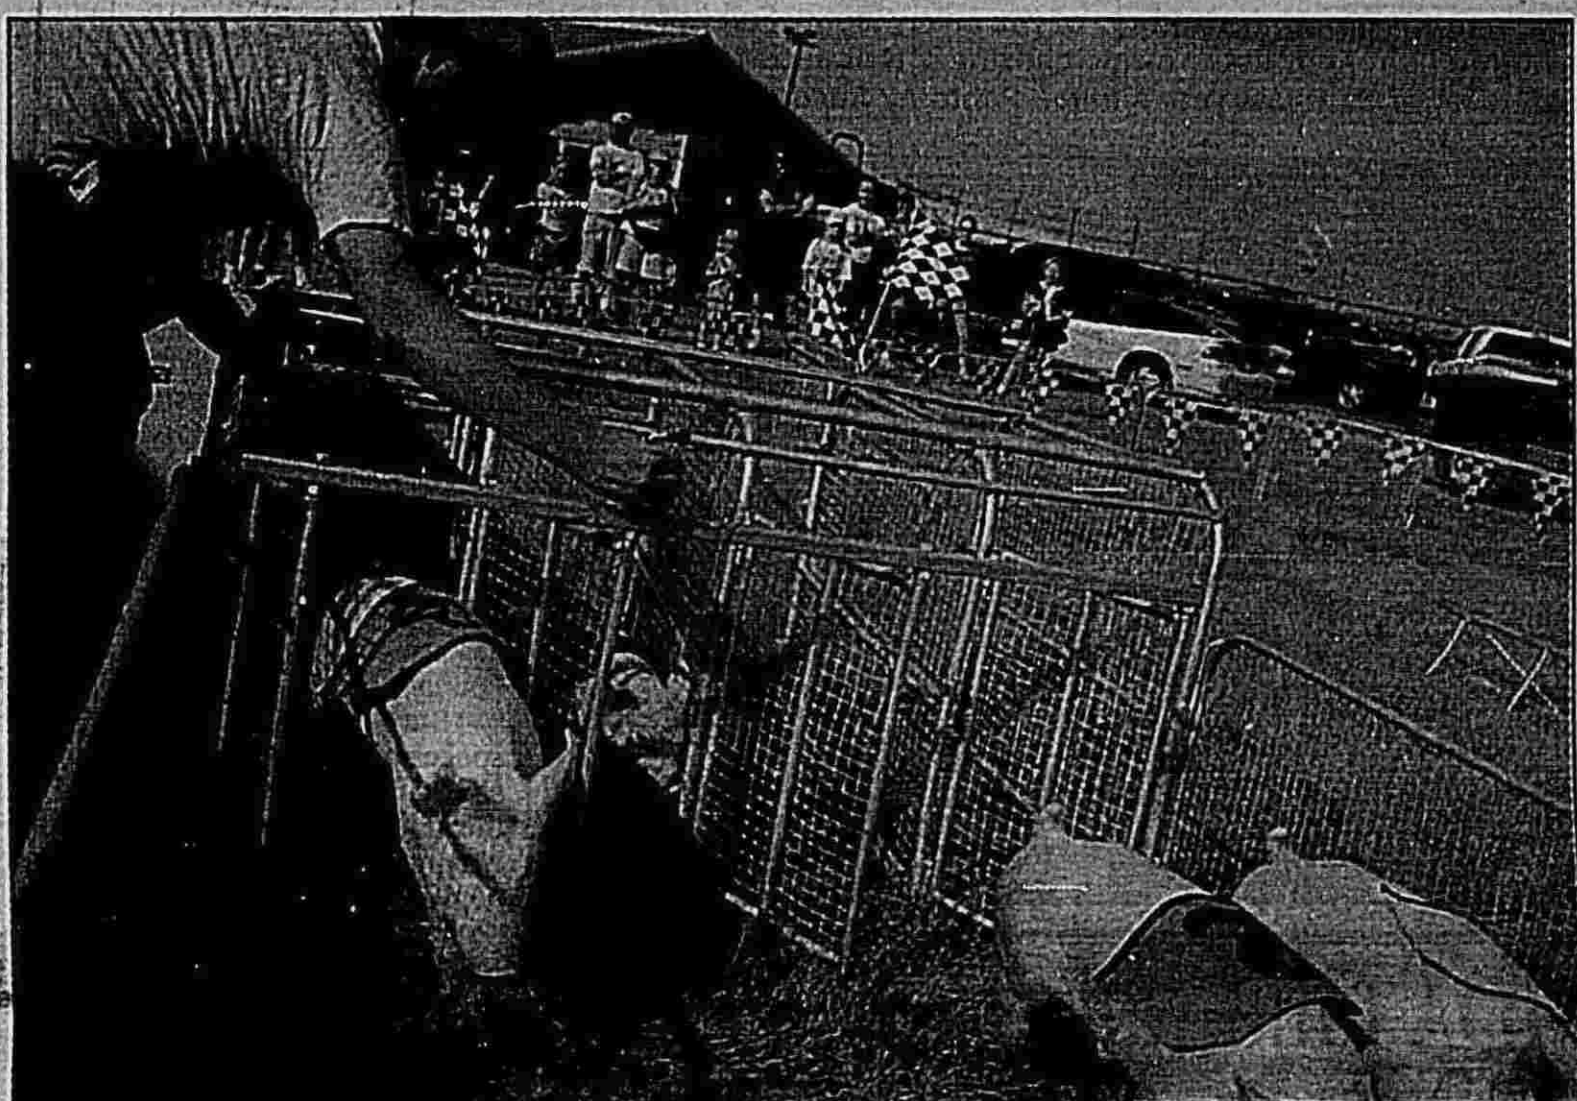

Perry said there has been a "negative campaign" by developers of the Lakehurst site to sway the Illinois Board of Higher Education to locate the University Center in Waukegan.

"I have been dismayed and disappointed in how the proponents of the so-called Lakehurst site have turned their campaign, not into a campaign for their favored site, but into a campaign against the Grayslake site, against CLC and against the entire selection process," Perry told the board.

"The contentious nature of their campaign is troublesome to me," he added. "In my opinion, much of this contentiousness is fueled by the checkbook of the developer, and therefore we must consider the source of this negativism."

In addition to Lakehurst and

Sparks fly at leaf burning hearing

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

Residents packed into a sweltering Grass Lake School gymnasium in Antioch to give their opinions about a proposed leaf burning ban for unincorporated Lake County.

Between 150 to 200 people attended a public informational meeting of Lake County Board's Health and Human Services Committee to give their views on the leaf burning issue.

The vast majority of the large crowd spoke out strongly against a ban, with a small but vocal minority urging a ban or at least restrictions on leaf burning. About 45 people filled out cards to speak at the meeting.

Linda Boerman, a long-time resident of Antioch, spoke out strongly against the leaf burning ban. Boerman said she thinks the calls for a leaf burning ban are coming from newcomers who live in municipalities that already have bans.

If a leaf burning ban is enacted, she said it won't be too long before the county tries to ban outdoor

MDA fund-raiser scheduled

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

The Muscular Dystrophy Association will kick off a fun-filled week-end in celebration of Long Grove Village's 161st birthday, by sponsoring the second annual Heritage Run/Walk for Chris.

This fund-raiser event, hosted by the Villages of Long Grove and Kildeer, will take place on August 7, in historic downtown Long Grove.

The event, which features a 5K run/1-mile walk combination is open to participants of all ages.

It will be followed by a picnic lunch hosted by the Long Grove Village Lions Club.

The event is named for 17-year-old Kildeer resident, Christopher Sanchez, who was diagnosed with MD at the age of four.

"We believe children should be given the opportunity to participate in fundraisers such as this," said Mrs. Sanchez. "It helps them to gain a better understanding of the disease."

Sanchez's 13-year-old daughter, Danielle, plays an important role in Christopher's life by helping him on a day-to-day basis.

Registration for the event begins at 7:30 a.m. directly across the street from The Village Tavern, located on Old McHenry Road at the intersection of routes 83 and 53. The run will begin at 9:00 a.m. followed by the walk at approximately 9:30 a.m. All participants will receive a free T-shirt.

The cost to register is $20 per person, $40 per family. Pre-registration cost would be $15 per person, $30 per family. Strollers and wheelchairs are welcome to participate.

For more information, call the MDA (847) 520-6329.

CLC: Site debate for CLC, Lakehurst still rages

CLC, a downtown Mundelein site is also being considered for the University Center. However, most of the discussion in recent weeks has focused on Lakehurst and CLC.

Other Grayslake officials, including Mayor Pat Carey, echoed Perry's sentiments in favor of CLC. "I think there's been some confusion or implication that the community doesn't want it," she said. "It's really been pretty well communicated that the community does want it."

Carey said the village of Grayslake unanimously passed a resolution in support of the University Center at CLC, as well as the Grayslake Park District, two school districts and the fire protection district. She said some nearby communities have also approved resolutions supporting the CLC site, including the villages of Round Lake Park, Hainesville, Round Lake Heights, Wauconda and Lake Barrington.

Perry said there are several reasons why CLC makes the most sense. Being that it's an educational institution already, the college and the University Center would be able to share many resources, such as library facilities, and thus keep costs down. In addition, many CLC students would complete the last two years of their education at the University Center, Perry said.

Another benefit is CLC centrally located to serve people from both the eastern and western parts of the county, according to Perry.

But Dan Friedlander, a spokesman for the proposed University Station site at Lakehurst, said all the studies done so far indicate the vast majority of the potential student population that would use the University Center live in closest proximity to the Lakehurst site.

Friedlander noted that Lakehurst is near the largest population centers of the county, is the most accessible from a traffic standpoint, and redevelopment of the mall is the most environmentally sound alternative of the three sites.

Friedlander also denies charges that Lakehurst is running a negative campaign against CLC or trying to interfere with the site selection process. Throughout the process, he said the developers of the Lakehurst site have tried to take the high road and not criticize CLC or any other site.

"We're not looking for a fight. We don't see any reason too. But there have been studies that have been done that show we are the best site, in every respect," he said.

Meanwhile, Perry said he was disappointed that both County Board representatives from Grayslake, Larry Leafblad and Sandy Cole, indicated their preference for the Lakehurst site when the board was polled on the issue. The County Board voted 19-1 in support of a resolution favoring Lakehurst as the preferred site.

"It kind of surprised me how a representative for Grayslake could vote to keep something this positive out of their district," Perry said.

Leafblad said his vote in support of the Lakehurst site was not a vote against CLC, indicating he would support the University Center wherever it's located. "I think if it comes to the College of Lake County it would be wonderful," he said.

However, of the three sites being considered, Leafblad said he personally feels Lakehurst has the most to offer. In fact, Leafblad once pitched the Lakehurst site as a possible location for a new Chicago Bears stadium.

"I've always been for Lakehurst, long before the hint of the multi-University Center being located there. I've always been for (the mall's) redevelopment," Leafblad said.

"We already have the asphalt at Lakehurst. We already have the roads and infrastructure at Lakehurst."

LEAF: Burning ban protested

bonfires or even smoke from fireplaces.

"You see, there is more to this issue than just burning leaves. It's about outsiders coming in and dictating what we can do in our communities," said Boerman, bringing a resounding round of applause from the crowd.

Gary Brown, a Grass Lake resident area who also opposes a ban, asked the committee if the public would have a say on the issue, perhaps in the form of a referendum.

"At some point are the communities going to be voting on this or are you going to be shoving it down our throats?" Brown asked.

John Schullen, vice chairman of the board's Health and Human Services Committee, said there are no plans for a referendum on the issue but input from the public will be given serious consideration whatever decision the board makes.

County Board member Judy Martini (R-Antioch) said opposition to a leaf burning ban is strong throughout her district. She said she has received 55 letters from constituents on the issue so far.

"Of all the letters I've received, not one supports a ban on leaf burning," she said.

Martini then asked the audience how many favored continuing to allow leaf burning. Nearly everyone in the audience raised their hands. Only a handful raised their hands when asked if they favored a ban.

While most at the meeting spoke out against a ban, some were supportive of the idea.

Karen Aaron of Wildwood brought her 8-year-old son to the meeting, who suffers from asthma. She said her son spent four days in the hospital in an oxygen tent after an asthma attack triggered by open burning.

"We're thoroughly against the burning of leaves," she said.

Aaron said she could live with it if people burned only a few times of the year, but many people burn whenever they want to without any respect for their neighbors.

"I've got to barricade my child in the house half the time," she said.

"I've got 25 neighbors burning and all on different days. What are we supposed to do? I understand you need to burn, but can't you do it on the same days?"

The Lake County Health Department has come out in support of either a ban or restrictions on leaf burning. The Lake County Administrator's Office favors a ban.

Colin Thacker, director of environmental health for the Lake County Health Department, said an estimated 24,000 to 29,000 people in Lake County suffer from asthma. He said leaf burning releases harmful materials into the air, such as particulate matter and hydrocarbons that can trigger asthma attacks.

"If you're healthy, it will probably never bother you. But if you have respiratory or heart problems, it will affect you," he said.

Antioch Mayor Marilyn Shineflug spoke out in favor of a ban. She said the Village of Antioch adopted a leaf burning ban in 1990 and has had a successful landscape waste collection program going through the waste haulers since 1991.

She pointed to Antioch's ordinance which states that "pollution of the air constitutes a menace to public health and welfare."

"I strongly urge you to enact a law which will prohibit the burning of landscape waste throughout Lake County, with possible limited exceptions in agricultural and conservation areas," she said.

Some in the audience called for some type of middle ground. Shineflug said after the meeting that residents expressed some legitimate concerns and perhaps some type of compromise solution can be worked out.

Carol Weninger of Antioch Township said while she doesn't favor a total ban on leaf burning, she thinks there should be some reasonable restrictions on the times people burn. She said some people leave unattended fires smoldering for days, with no respect for their neighbors.

"It's a situation where the air is being polluted. I think education is the answer. People should know when to burn," she said.

Most members of the committee also seemed to express a desire for some type of compromise. Schullen said while he doesn't know how the rest of the board feels on the issue, "my personal feeling is we're not going to see a ban on leaf burning in unincorporated areas of the county."

However, he does feel there has to be some reasonable restrictions, perhaps on the times when people burn and restrictions on burning in densely populated areas.

The Antioch meeting was the second of three public meetings on the leaf burning issue. The third and final meeting was a County Board Committee Meeting of the Whole held at Grant Community High School in Fox Lake Aug. 4.

FAIR: Heat stifles attendance

heat there were no major problems during the fair.

"I think in general it went very well and was very well received," she said.

Despite the fair's continued success, Gunia said the fair association is always looking for ways to improve it.

"We're constantly looking to the future. We don't want to get rid of any of the things that are really popular, but we are looking at adding some new things," she said.

Gunia said one of the possibilities is to offer different ethnic musical entertainment each day of the fair, in addition to the popular country music acts. Another new entertainment possibility for next year would be to bring in a laser light show, she said.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Village posts tax ordinance

Mundelein—The Mundelein Village Board voted Monday night to post an ordinance which would create a 5 percent tax on hotels and motels in the village.

The "Home Rule hotel operators' occupation tax" would give the village five percent of the rent charged for each room rented at a hotel or motel within the village.

A final vote regarding the adoption of the ordinance could be made at the board's Aug. 9 meeting.

The decision to post the ordinance was not made without opposition, however. Robert Goss, general manager of the Ramada Inn, feels the board should not adopt the ordinance.

"We feel this tax is unfair to the hotels and motels in Mundelein," said Goss.

Village officials said the revenue could be used to pay for advertising for the village, which could help increase patronage at the hotels and motels in Mundelein.

If approved, the first tax period would begin on Sept. 1 of this year. The first payment would be due on Oct. 25.

Drug arrest made at Gurnee Mills

Gurnee—A Kenosha man was arrested in the Gurnee Mills parking lot after he delivered 11 ounces of crack cocaine to an undercover Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Lake County agent on July 27.

With assistance from the Wisconsin Department of Justice, Illinois State Police, and police from the Gurnee and Deerfield police departments, MEGLC officials arrested Edward C. Wilson, 27, of 5904 50th Ave. in Kenosha.

As a result of the investigation, a total of 339 grams of crack cocaine were seized. A search at Wilson's residence yielded an additional 101 grams of cocaine. The street value of all of the crack cocaine is estimated at $116,300.

Wilson was arrested and charged with unlawful delivery of a controlled substance, a class X felony, which carries a mandatory minimum prison sentence of 9 to 40 years. He was also charged with controlled substance trafficking for bringing the cocaine into Illinois from Wisconsin. That charge could enhance his sentence to 18 to 40 years in prison. Additional charges are pending in Wisconsin.

Wilson is currently being held at the Lake County Jail on a $100,000 bond.

Trained dog aids in search for body

Lake Villa—Since a rowboat on Deep Lake capsized on Friday, July 30 at about 12:45 a.m., one of the seven passengers remains missing, a 22-year-old Antioch-area man. His name has not yet been released, according to Lake Villa Police Lieutenant Roger Schroeder.

The other six passengers ranged in age from 15 to 22. They swam ashore after the boat capsized. The police responded to a call from a woman who had heard screams coming from Deep Lake. According to police, some of the passengers had been jumping in and out of the boat, and drinking on the boat. The search for the man's body has been going on periodically since late Friday.

"It could be the body's tangled up in the weeds or something because it's very very weedy," Schroeder said. "We are 99.9 percent sure that he is in the water."

Wednesday morning, a "German shepherd...specifically trained to detect senses of bodies in the water" was sent out to search. The dog is from DuPage County, and is one of only six of its kind in the country, Schroeder said.

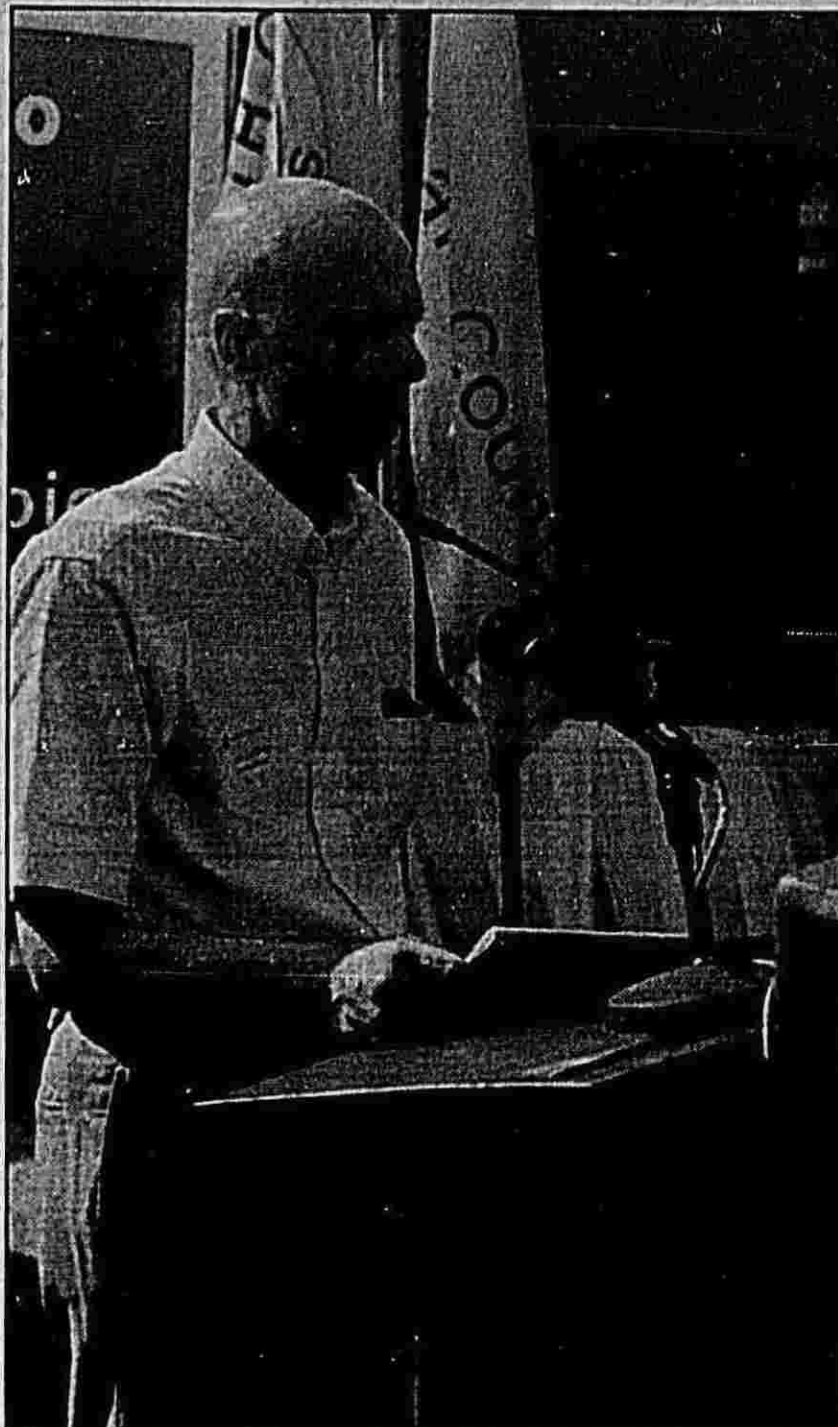

As far as how long the search will continue, it "is up to the Lake Villa Fire Department and their manpower," Schroeder said. The police department is keeping a close eye on the shore with binoculars in case anything surfaces.

Village board OK's subdivision

Wauconda—Wauconda trustees gave the go-ahead for a single-family home subdivision on the north side of Bangs Lake.

Landowner Dale Berger and his developer, Greengard, Inc. of Lincolnshire, met the final hurdle of requirements, placed by Stormwater Management Commission. Plans call for 44 homes on 24 acres at Washington Ave. and North Shore Drive.

The homes are expected to sell for $300,000 or greater. Plans have been on the books for the subdivision since 1996, but village officials expect this to be the final plan.

Green Oaks joins LMV Chamber

Libertyville—The Libertyville-Mundelein-Vernon Hills Chamber of Commerce just got bigger.

Already the largest standing chamber of commerce in the county, LMV just added 300 new business with Green Oaks jumping on board.

B. Dwight Houchins, President/CEO of LMV, said, "There is a lot of commonality between Libertyville and Green Oaks and they have over 300 businesses and no chamber to represent them."

Green Oaks and Libertyville share not only the same postal zip code but also make up part of the Cook Library District, school District 120 and Libertyville Fire Protection District.

Green Oaks was approved by the LMV chamber board of directors the beginning of July.

The group is now calling itself the GLMV.

It began in 1946, chartered as Libertyville chamber of commerce. Then in 1976, 30 years later, Mundelein joined. In 1980 Vernon Hills joined making it LMV, and now another 20 years later the group is adding Green Oaks.

With everyone wondering what is going to happen in the new millennium, Houchins believes this opportunity came at the perfect time.

An official name and logo change will be announced sometime between October and November. Houchins said the colors will be changing.

"It will be a little bit of a make-over which will reflect the new GLMV," Houchins said.

Residents injured in accident

Gurnee—Two Grayslake residents were injured in an accident on Route 45 north of Washington Street in Gurnee when one of their vehicles swerved into on-coming traffic on Aug. 2.

Nancy Storey, 43, of Grayslake, was traveling northbound on Route 45 when she was struck by a bee, causing her to enter on-coming southbound traffic.

Storey's vehicle struck the vehicle driven by Kimberly Caldron, 26, also of Grayslake. Lori Esquerro, 35, of Lake Villa, could not stop in time and subsequently hit the two vehicles, said Lake County Sheriff's Department officials.

The Gurnee Fire Department responded to the scene and removed Storey and Caldron from their vehicles. Both Caldron and Storey were transported from the scene by Flight For Life to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge for further medical attention, Lake County Sheriff's Department officials said.

St. Joseph's holds open registration

Round Lake—St. Joseph School in Round Lake will hold its open registration for the 1999-2000 school year on Sunday, August 8 from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. in the upper building of the school.

New registrations will be accepted for the 3-year-old and 4-year-old pre-school afternoon classes, for full-day kindergarten classes, and for grades 1-8 where there is room.

Children entering kindergarten must have reached the age of 5 on or before September 1, 1999. A birth or baptismal certificate must be presented for each child being registered who is new to the school.

For more information about the school or about registration, call the school office at 546-1720.

National Nite Out huge success

Round Lake area—The 16th Annual National Nite Out on August 3 was a smashing success, not to mention historical.

It was the first time all four villages of the Round Lake area and Hainesville worked together to walk together.

Nearly 600 people took to the streets to let criminals know they're fighting back.

"This is so awesome. It's so emotional," said Round Lake Beach Village Clerk Jennifer Oliver. "History was made—good history."

"The kids were chanting, 'National Nite Out! Join the fight; turn on your light!'" said Bruce Johnson, chief of police for the Village of Round Lake Park.

After each neighborhood walk, busses shuttled walkers to the neutral Round Lake Area Park District for more fun including food, entertainment and games.

"We're looking forward to next year," said Johnson.

Young riders compete

Old Mill Creek—Young equestrians from across the U.S., Canada, Mexico, Central America, Puerto Rico, and the Caribbean Islands will converge on Tempel Farms in Old Mill Creek August 10-15 for the 1999 North American Young Riders' Championships.

The young competitors will vie for medals in the three Olympic equestrian disciplines of show jumping, dressage and eventing.

Tempel Farms is located at 17000 Wadsworth Road in Old Mill Creek.

One-day tickets for the events of August 13, 14, and 15 are priced at $5. Unlimited admission for all three days is $12. Tickets can be purchased at the door.

For additional information, call (847) 295-3285.

Man arrested on drug charges

Mundelein—A Mundelein man was arrested last week and placed in jail after investigators found drugs and drug paraphernalia in his apartment.

A joint investigation by the Mundelein Police Department and the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Lake County (MEGLC) resulted in the arrest of Jose L. Carranza, 22, of 155 S. Chicago.

After a search of Carranza's residence, police found 26 grams of cocaine, 8 grams of cannabis, and over $5,000 in U.S. currency, according to MEGLC officials. Investigators also found various drug paraphernalia in the apartment.

Carranza was charged with unlawful possession of cocaine with the intent to deliver, which is a class X felony. Carranza could face a minimum of six years in the State Department of Corrections, with a maximum sentence of 30 years, according to MEGLC officials.

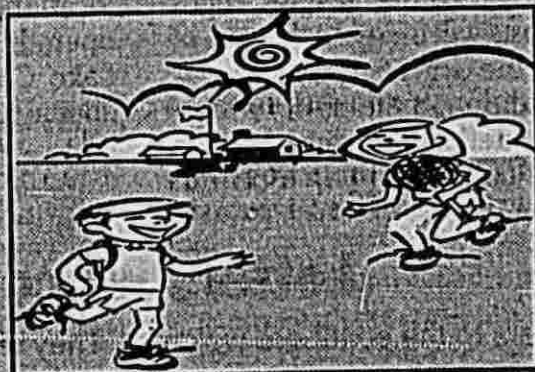

He was also charged with possession of a controlled substance, which is a class 1 felony.

EDITORIALS

Site politics detract from school's purpose

Far too much emphasis has been put on the politics of siting the multi-versity slated for Lake County than exactly what type of educational center the facility will be and who will use it.

With politics intruding its ugly face in the proceedings, it's not surprising that the siting process has become highly controversial. Communities have been pitted against each other. Motives have been impugned. Leaders who should be working together are pitted against each other. There is some justification for the argument that members of the State Board of Education will get disgusted with all the in-fighting in Lake County and look elsewhere.

One wonders what would have happened four decades ago if the formation of the new Lake County community college district bogged down in haggling over a site. Siting the future College of Lake County brought forth little or no discourse. Two enterprising and generous businessmen, J. Harold Anderson, successful real estate developer, and Paul Brendell, an attorney, made the land available from farm property they owned on Washington St. A done deal. Centrally located in the district, the Grayslake main campus has served students, taxpayers and the extended community beyond expectations.

What is surprising about the multi-versity site debate is that one of the major constituents, the county's big industry and major employers, have not been involved. A respected Washington newsletter recently reported how large businesses again are looking kindly upon urban areas rich in workers, customers and good real estate deals. Urban universities will play a key role in education and training for big business. That sounds a lot more like the Lakehurst location than the CLC main campus with traditional college features like scattered buildings, expansive lawns, athletic facilities and student gathering places.

How do the Abbotts, the Kempers, the Baxters view the multi-versity? And while diversified input on the site is considered, what are the needs of the colleges and universities that will be offering programs at the multi-versity. They'll be underwriting a good bit of operational costs.

As we understand it, the multi-versity will be much different than we know traditional colleges and universities to be. That would seem to call an entire new set of standards that all the too familiar politicking is bringing forth.

Tax policy hurt at local level can be avoided

While Washington lawmakers are battling over the question of whether lightening the tax load on Americans is good or bad, Mundelein officials are offering some new slants on the taxation process.

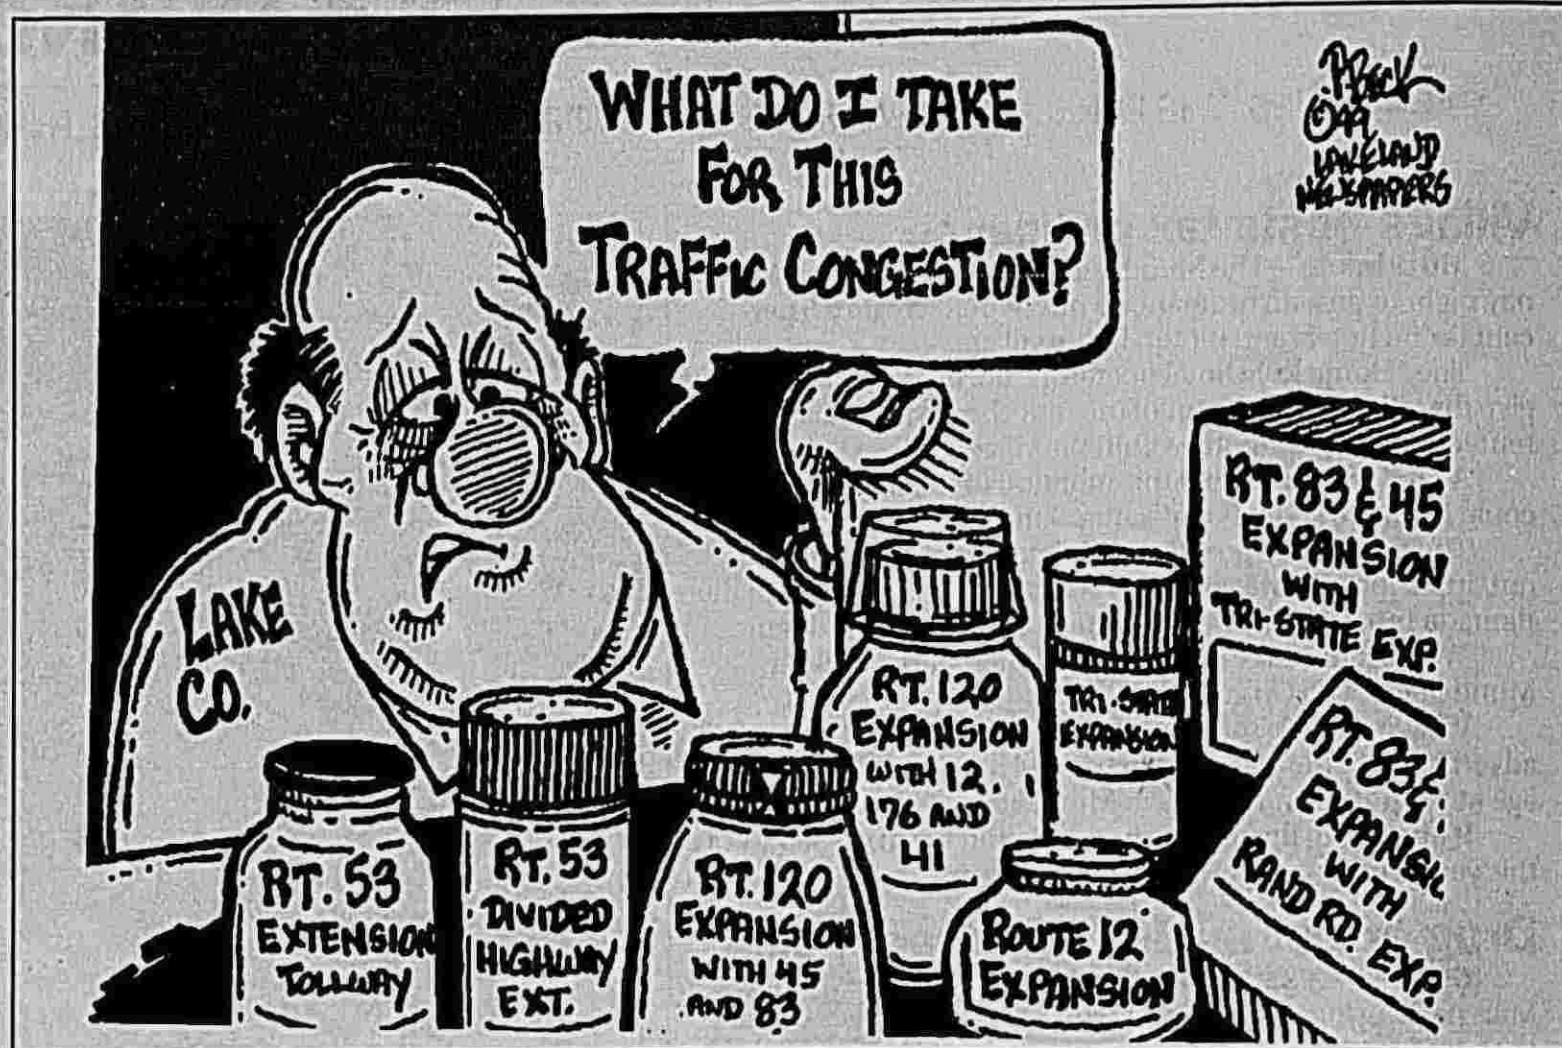

They are intrigued with the notion that a majority of the new money created by an increase in the sales tax from 6.5 percent to 7.25 will be paid by non-residents. Trustee Bruce Campbell, noted that the sales tax hike and the creation of a 5 percent hotel/motel tax, will raise a tidy $2.2 million, a convenient alternative to raising real estate taxes.

Council members also like the idea that more income will allow for a rebate on a portion of real estate taxes and a reduction in bonded indebtedness for two new fire stations. Mundelein officials also have other worthwhile places to use the new income, expected to come on line Jan. 1, such as downtown redevelopment and construction of a new police station.

There's a big difference in the tax policies being discussed in Washington and Mundelein, though. True, the hotel-motel tax will be shouldered by non-residents. If visitors balk at the extra tax, they can sleep in a neighboring town. If Mundelein householders don't want to pay more sales tax they can shop in Libertyville or Wauconda.

But when the feds talk tax policy, there's no escape. Everyone is in the same boat.

By the way, we happen to think all the conversation being generated in Washington is pretty silly since the bulk of the so-called benefits won't kick in for nearly 10 years. At least at the grassroots level, the waiting time for new tax policies to impact, good or bad, is short.

VIEWPOINT

Commuters option: toil, toll, sit tight

Suburban commuters already paying a disproportionate share of the costs of operating Illinois tollways aren't enchanted with the thought of paying increased tolls.

But they are desperate enough for more and improved highways to fall in line with a minimum of grumbling when tolls are hiked to pay for a massive rebuild of the tollway system.

That's what politicians and the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority are banking on: the desperation and docility of suburban motorists, that's you and me, who will be picking up the lion's share of the tab for a $2 billion, 274-mile rebuilding project spread over the next two decades.

Arthur Philip, the newly appointed Toll Authority chairman, already has paid his debt to Gov. George Ryan for getting a plum appointment. Philip is taking heat for the proposed toll hikes. But that's the way the system works. Ryan and predecessor governors rarely are taken to task for the misgivings of the corrupt and mismanaged agency, which is an entity unto itself, untouchable by taxpayers and the motoring public.

Because of the incestuous relationship between the GOP high command and the Toll Authority, Republican members of the General Assembly raise questions about tollway operations at the risk of their political futures. For all practical purposes, they're toadies when it comes to tollway business. Silence is golden in the Republican camp.

Even Democrats are reluctant to speak out. Former State Rep. John Matijevich (D-Waukegan), made the only consistent inquiries into how the Toll Authority was spending the millions of dollars in tolls it takes in every year. For his guardianship of the public right to know, Matijevich was remapped into oblivion by the GOP-dominated redistricting process a decade ago.

Who's going to ask the tough questions why current toll rates can't cover reconstruction costs? No one in the Lake County Republican General Assembly contingent. Maybe a Democrat, but they've been pretty timid, too, since Matijevich was forcibly retired.

State Rep. Jeffrey Schoenberg (D-Evanston), chairman of the Illinois House general service appropriations committee, responded to the Philip reconstruction manifesto with dismay. But his small outcry demonstrates how miniscule the Tollway Authority oversight effort is in the General Assembly. Schoenberg is talking about a bill to require a three-fifths "supermajority" vote in the General Assembly to approve major Toll Authority action.

Republican chieftains long have looked upon the Tollway Authority as their private reservation. The free-standing agency is under constant pressure to keep pipelines open for GOP campaign contributions and grease the way for dictating land use policies where the big money in politics is made.

State Rep. Carolyn Krause (R-Mt. Prospect) voiced the need for tollway fiscal oversight. She's probably too young to remember what happened to Matijevich Memo to Krause: Watch your back.

Long ago, respected Democrat Neil Hartigan, former Illinois attorney general and until he decided to become a party elder statesmen always on the short list for governor and U.S. Senate, explained to this observer Democrat leaders refuse to seize on the transgressions of the Tollway Authority as a campaign issue.

"Contractors contribute to both parties," explained Hartigan.

Here's the official line on the GOP reaction to Philip's call for higher tolls: State Sen. Steven Rauschenberg (R-Elgin), chair of the powerful Senate appropriations committee, replied that tollway officials "can be expected" to make a full account of why higher tolls are needed.

Guess again, senator!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Private developers make a private university

In all the discussions regarding the selection of a site for the University Center, one central fact has not been mentioned. Selection of the College of Lake County site will result in a public investment in facilities that will be owned by the public. In contrast, the Lakehurst site would result in payments to developers for facilities that would not be owned by the public.

Ownership by the developer has another disadvantage. At the end of a lease term, the University Center will be at the mercy of the developers for the cost of leasing the facilities. Higher lease costs will increase the cost of operating the University Center.

In addition to the obvious educational benefits of proximity to the College of Lake County in a central location, control of the facility and its operating costs makes the College of Lake County site, by far, the best choice for the University Center.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

GOP dunk tank headline attraction

Leafblad: University site selection a sham.

Grinnell: On the mend, at the fair.

Crane: Tough on crime, not just guns.

Friendly" Republicans and maybe a few Democrats in disguise are getting in line for first crack at tossing baseballs at occupants of the dunk tank at the Lake County GOP's Grand Old Picnic Sunday, Aug. 22, at Lakewood Forest Preserve.

County GOP Chairman John Schullen says an all-star line-up of targets is assured.

The picnic is a county Republican tradition dating back to the '30s when summer gatherings brought out the party's best orators. Modern picnics are short on speeches and long on socializing.

Lakewood has replaced the Serbian Monastery Picnic Grounds, Libertyville, and Holiday Park, Wooster Lake, favorite spots for summer political fun of years past.

Food taster

Besides enjoying the food at Taste of Antioch, Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk spread the word for Lindenfest, another food jamboree, scheduled for Aug. 13, 14 and 15. Making the rounds of neighboring festivals is one of the enjoyable parts of being a mayor.

CLC backers displeased

Advocates of the College of Lake County site for the proposed multi-versity, mostly CLC connected and Grayslake business persons, are making County Board Rep. Larry Leafblad (R-Highland Lake), who voted for the Lakehurst site, aware of their displeasure with his stand. Leafblad is voicing the opinion that the deck was stacked by state politicians in favor of CLC from the start and that the site selection process was a charade.

Grinnell at Fair

Former Sheriff Clint Grinnell, on the mend from the effects of a severe stroke, was among fairgoers who braved 90-plus degree temperatures last week at the Lake County Fair. He used to be an exhibitor every year. Grinnell is getting ready for the annual farm power equipment show in September at Lakewood Forest Preserve.

Little travel

It took longer than expected, but former State Rep. Bob Churchill is pleased with an appointment to the Illinois Prisoner Review board. Not many out-of-town trips and he can handle most of the duties for the $65,204 job from his law office.

Mystery party

State Rep. Susan Garrett

(D-Lake Forest) says the Republican "pork party" for Lake County hasn't been totaled up yet—if it ever will. Democratic and GOP elected officials accepted the hand-outs from Springfield with equal gusto. Garrett was especially proud of grants she obtained for North Chicago schools.

Sticking to his guns

U.S. Rep. Phil Crane has always taken a strong stance against gun control, as he pointed out in a town meeting in Schaumburg this month.

However, Crane did support House Resolution 2122, the Mandatory Gun Show Background Check Act.

"Although I had some objections to the final form of the bill, it was, in the end, a way to address violence in America. I also voted for the Dingell Amendment, which would have required a 24-hour background check before the gun sale, allowed dealers to transfer inventories in person, and increased the penalties for using large capacity ammunition magazines during crimes of violence. This amendment would have kept weapons from the hands of criminals without infringing upon the rights of gun owners."

However, Crane said the seriousness he gives to the sanctity of the Second Amendment to the U.S. Constitution is "one that should not be tampered with."

"Violence on the streets of America should be curbed by addressing the violent crimes of individual perpetrators, by getting tough on crime, and by putting criminals behind bars," he said.

He favors legislation that would allow law-abiding citizens of the District of Columbia to have firearms in their homes for self-defense. He also voted against the McCollum amendment, which would have banned possession of certain rifles by anyone under the age of 18. "With that measure, we'd have to bring some of the troops from Kosovo," he said.

Can't have our toys in heaven?

Through the ages man has been tormented by two questions: Will the Cubs flounder forever, and is there life after death?

Since the former is too puzzling and painful to ponder, today we shall dwell on the latter.

Comic Drew Carey, joking about Pope John Paul's use of bodyguards and the armored vehicle known as the Popemobile, asks: "If he's afraid to die and go to heaven, what chance do the rest of us have?"

Coincidentally, the pope recently shared with us his conception of the "afterlife," that heaven is not up in the clouds somewhere and is not a physical place.

He also said, in effect, forget the flames and the devils with pitchforks, hell is not a physical place either.

The pontiff proclaimed, "Hell is not a punishment imposed by God, but the condition resulting from attitudes and actions that people adopt in this life, separating themselves from God, the source of all life and joy."

A Gallup Poll showed that 77 percent of us expect to wind up in a heaven of some sort. Almost all religions promise a life after death but there's no proof.

George Plagenz, a clergyman and newspaper columnist who wrote excellent articles about religion, suggested we are like the pet dog of a doctor who was visiting a terminally ill patient.

"Doc," said the man, "you're a religious person. Tell me, what will heaven be like?"

The doctor paused, then said, "Ed, do you hear that scratching outside the door? That's my dog. I brought him along. He wants to come in. He's never been in here, he has no idea what this room is like, he only knows one thing: I'm in here."

"Ed, I don't know what heaven

THE PFARR CORNER

is like, I know only one thing about it. God is there."

Most of us feel there must be more to life than what happens in this too-short journey from cradle to grave—a next life, hopefully with some connection to this one.

Plagenz said it's only natural we want specifics. Do we eat and sleep in heaven? Wear clothes? Drive Cadillacs? Will there be pizza and beer? Burritos and Dove bars?

Will our previously departed loved ones be there to welcome us?

The pope says heaven is not a physical place but Plagenz noted that Jesus spoke of renewing human relationships there. He also suggested heaven would include earthly pleasures such as eating and drinking with our friends. At the Last Supper he told his disciples, "I will not drink henceforth of the fruit of the vine until I drink it new with you in my Father's kingdom."

Some of us hope our "toys" will be there, too. I'll be disappointed if the sweet by-and-by doesn't have golf courses.

I remember reading an obituary about Frederick Loewe, the composer of "My Fair Lady" and other marvelous musicals. He died at 86; his partner, Alan Jay Lerner, had died two years earlier.

"It won't be long," Loewe had said after Lerner's death, "before we'll be writing together again. I just hope they have a decent piano up there."

The pope is said to be infallible but some of us hope he's wrong about heaven not being a physical place.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Anderson causes the casualty of truth

Richard A. Anderson, who is a member of the College of Lake County Board and just happens to be an appointed member of the University Center Board, recently wrote a very long letter that expressed his bias for siting the Multi-University Center at CLC rather than the Lakehurst location. That figures but he ought to understand that many people disagree with him.

Mr. Anderson's first paragraph noted that in the discussion concerning site selection, "truth was the first casualty." When it comes to untruths, Anderson need only to look in the mirror.

In his second paragraph, Mr. Anderson accuses former State Rep. John S. Matijevich, John Della Valle, and me of representing the Lakehurst developer. He made the same charges when we addressed as public citizens at the June CLC Board meeting, and he was set straight, but I guess he doesn't want to hear the truth. I also attended the July CLC Board meeting and I challenged Anderson to say, in front of the media and public who were present, what makes him believe that we represent the developer, and he had no answer for that.

Mr. Anderson also made untruthful comments regarding the Lake County Board meeting when the Board voted 19-1 to express its preference for the Lakehurst site for the University Center. He intimidated that the county board was a "stacked deck" in favor of the Lakehurst site. He said that he attended that Board meeting and accused the Board of "hearing only one side of the issue, the Lakehurst site."

Again, Mr. Anderson, here's the truth. Is it a "stacked deck" when the very public body originally called upon to recommend a site selection to the Illinois Board of Higher Education stands up in a public forum and states its public preference for the Lakehurst site?

Mr. Anderson grumbles that the Lake County Board heard only one side, the Lakehurst side. The truth, again, is that the four persons who spoke represented themselves during the time period of the board meeting when any citizen has the right to speak. The four were Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis, Sen. Terry Link, Waukegan Alderman Ray Vukovich, and businessman Jack Potter.

You were at the meeting, Mr. Anderson. Why didn't you speak? No one was there at the invitation of the county board and you had as much right to speak as they did. Contrary to your charges, the four who spoke weren't representing the developers, they were speaking their mind in a public forum. You chose to be silent. You seem to have the attitude that anyone who disagrees with you represents the Lakehurst developer.

When I attended the June CLC Board meeting, I thought that we made it clear that it was the site selection process that was unfair. At that meeting and the July meeting, I heard that the tone of the debate might prevent Lake County from having a University Center. No one who levels that "tone debate" issue makes mention that it was the "sharp tongue" of the Board of Higher Education Site Selection Chairman Edwin Moore who raised the contentious tone of debate. He called every effort by the City of Waukegan to achieve a University Center as "futile gestures."

Mr. Anderson's long letter raises what he calls unanswered questions about the Lakehurst site. It is what his letter doesn't say that is more revealing. Imagine a letter as long as his and not once did I see the word "wetland." Is it Mr. Anderson's attempt to be truthful by avoiding it? Maybe he didn't read the state's Capital Development Board's report on the sites where it indicated a long permitting process if the CLC site were chosen because of the wetlands issue.

One other word I never saw mentioned in Mr. Anderson's letter was the word "TRAFFIC." I didn't read any mention of the potential of at least 5,000 additional multi-university students at CLC and how that would impact the already congested highways leading to CLC. I still say that the College of Lake County should be committed to using its taxpayer property for its community college mandate, and I believe, as I said at the June CLC Board meeting, that any other use is subject to legal challenge. Mr. Anderson glosses over that, citing intergovernmental cooperation, but, as a taxpayer, I believe that he is "stretching" the law. All of his talk about sharing facilities like the library. He would have us believe that the CLC library can withstand an influx of 5,000 additional multi-university students without jeopardizing the educational resources of the present and future community college enrollment?

Everyone seems to forget when the University Center bill was initially killed in the Senate. The senators who were adamantly opposed to it said that they didn't support anything that would start a costly "bricks and mortar" precedent.

It has been shown that the Lakehurst site would be the least costly. It has been shown that the Lakehurst site would utilize existing infrastructure. If choosing the Lakehurst site as the University Center would also contribute to some economic re-birth at Lakehurst, is there anything wrong with that? I believe that the University Center, on its own, can emerge as a growing, viable institution of higher learning, and I hope that the Illinois board of Higher Education will come to that decision.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Learning from or living with failure: It's your choice

(Part one of a two-part series)

He sat in my office slowly shaking his head. "I've failed," he said. "I wanted to make this company so successful that people would look up to me. Now, they'll see me as a failure."

The man setting across the desk from me was a bright, honest and hard working business owner. He was coming to grips with the fact that his business wasn't going to make it. Past mistakes had piled up, and he had waited too long to address his problems. When a new, well-capitalized competitor entered the market, my client decided he had fought the battle long enough.

As we worked on an exit strategy to minimize losses, I reminded him that one failed venture did not make him a total failure personally. I pointed out some other successful people who experienced failure early in their lives.

I reminded him that R.H. Macy had failed in several retail ventures before founding the successful chain of Macy's Department Stores. I told him about Henry Ford's early automotive fiascos. I even shared a few of my own business mistakes.

The truth about failure

In the past few months, I've thought a lot about this client and many others like him. I've worked with more than 2,000 business owners in the past eleven years and failures aren't that rare. I believe if you try to achieve anything worthwhile, you will experience some setbacks. Whether your failures are completely debilitating or just temporary roadblocks is up to you.

When it comes to failures in your life, you have two choices. You can choose to "live with them" or you can choose to "learn from them."

You see being knocked down in life doesn't make you a failure unless you choose not to get back up. Life is a game, and like any other game sometimes you're ahead and sometimes you're behind. Sometimes you win and sometimes you lose. Having a failure and being a failure are two entirely different things.

We don't always get to choose where we begin in life, but we can influence where we're going to end up. If you've experienced a recent failure here's some news you can use.

Making a fresh start

You may have failed in business, suffered a broken relationship or even committed a crime. Don't dwell on past failures, because today is a brand new page in your life and you can write whatever you choose on it. You can choose to make a fresh start today.

Your destiny may be great if you choose not to let failure keep you down. You're not the first to have to get back up on your feet and get on with life.

Walt Disney was encouraged to give up art and drawing early in his career. His first screen star "Oswald the Lucky Rabbit," was taken from him by a shrewd businessman who owned the rights. Disney didn't quit. He developed a new character called "Mickey Mouse." The rest of the story you know.

TCI of Northeast Illinois begins AT&T Transition

TCI of Northeast Illinois has begun transition to the AT&T brand as part of a nation-wide effort among all of TCI's systems, field offices, products and services offered across the country.

The announcement was made by TCI of Northeast Illinois general manager Paul Ashley. Customers will now begin to know TCI of Northeast Illinois under a new brand name — AT&T Cable Services — as a result of the recent merger between Tele-Communications, Inc. (TCI) and AT&T, which was completed in March. AT&T Cable Services is part of AT&T Broadband & Internet Services, which continues to be one of the nation's leading providers of video and broad data services.

TCI employs 160 local people, serving almost 100,000 customers.

Over the next several months, the AT&T brand name will begin to appear in all aspects of company business, from system signs, service trucks and employee uniforms, to advertising and marketing campaigns, as well as in phone greetings at the Waukegan office. When customers in the Lake County area call TCI, they will be greeted by representatives answering, "AT&T Cable Services, formerly TCI."

Customers will also be introduced to AT&T Digital Cable (formerly TCI Digital Cable), the new name for the company's digital cable product which offers customers a wide variety of video programming services, movie channels, digital audio services, Pay-Per-View offerings, an interactive on screen guide with parental control features, and AT & T @ Home (formerly TCI@Home), the company's high-speed, content-enriched cable Internet Services where AT&T's local telephone service-via-cable is being introduced, customers will know that product offerings as "AT&T Telephone Services."

Die designers to get new production home

An approximately 136,715-square foot facility for progressive Manufacturing Corp., 1275 Ensell Road, Lake Zurich, is under construction. Groundbreaking took place in July, 1999 with completion scheduled for its first quarter 2000.

Founded in 1982 by the Osterhues family, privately owned Progressive Manufacturing is a metal fabrication company with over 100 employees. The company designs and builds progressive dies used to produce metal stampings in addition to assembly, sub-assembly, short run production, and eco-friendly powder coating. The firm is expanding to include more contract manufacturing which includes automation equipment and punch presses.

The new facility will include a 43,800-sq.-ft. warehouse and a 55,000-sq.-ft. plant as well as 17,171-sq.-ft. of office space with a 13,675-sq.-ft. mezzanine. Features of the precast building will include two 60' by 10' concrete screen walls, a punch window system and clear story windows, a 15' x 55' canopy over the recyclable area, exterior truck docks, levelers and seals, grade level truck and van entrances, and parking for 270 vehicles. Amenities of the warehouse will include a tool room, oil storage room, compressor room and shipping office.

Steve Rutkowski, project manager for FCL Builders of Forest Park, is overseeing the construction and Timothy Morgan & Associates is the project architect.

Consumers' Credit Union approved as Y2K ready

Consumers Cooperative Union announces that all of its critical systems are Y2K ready.

Consumers is the 10th largest credit union in Illinois with offices in Waukegan, Mundelein, Round Lake Beach and Stevenson High School. Bill Reidel, President, said the institution actually has been operating on a Year 2000 plan that has kept all of the testing, implementation, and Y2K certifications from third parties on track.

More than 1,000 new members, as customers are called, and substantial new deposits indicate that for the full year, growth may be in the double digits. Reidel urged the public and the more than 42,000 members to look into the customer-friendly new programs and service at Consumers where work is proceeding as planned.

Y2K preparation involved a committee of Credit Union management, which met basically every two weeks to review progress on Y2K plan objectives and assure quality results. They also asked outside vendors and suppliers from utilities to companies that process checks, to assure them they also will avoid problems that could affect service to the members of Consumers.

Downtown group gets new logo

An out-of-town resident won the competition for designing a new logo for Downtown Lake Zurich, a revitalization organization.

The winner is Sara Marie Frost of Streamwood. Her father is a designer employed by a Barrington graphics firm.

Second place was won by Shelly Rose; third place went to Michelle Schimdbauer. The winners shared a $500 cash prize donated by LaSalle Bank, N.A.

Entries of the 10 finalists will be on display at Mainstreet Art Concert, 16 E. Main St., until mid-August.

California Closet finds home

It's great news for homeowners, contractors and interior designers: California Closets—the West Coast company that invented custom storage solutions—has taken up residence in Highland Park's Studio 41 showroom.

Whatever your dream storage area looks like, it's now closer than ever—right down the road on Rte 41 between Old Elm and Half Day Roads.

Studio 41 houses the newest and finest in interior home materials—including kitchen appliances, bath fixtures, windows, doors, flooring, lighting, cabinetry and more. The company shares space with such luminary brands as Subzero, Corian, Jacuzzi, Moen and more than 150 others.

"Life is much more chaotic than years ago," says Vice President M.K. Reddi. "There is a bigger need for storage systems that can accommodate our hectic lifestyles so we can enjoy the time we value so much."

California Closets earned $100 million in sales in 1998, an increase of nearly 30 percent over 1997. In addition to franchises located throughout the U.S. and Canada, the concept has exploded in such far-reaching countries as Australia, Spain, Singapore, Brazil and Saudi Arabia.

TAYLOR: Turning failure into learning experience

Henry Ford's first automobile company was a flop. Mary Kay Ash was 45, divorced, jobless and suffering from depression when she decided to start her "dream company," Mary Kay Cosmetics. Michael Jordan was cut from his junior varsity basketball team as a teenager and yet he went on to stardom as a professional.

Failure doesn't have to stop you. If you're still breathing there is hope. Don't quit, don't give up. Learn from your failures and you'll find success.

Read next week's column and I'll give you some sure-fire ways to overcome failure. Don't miss "Learning from or living with failure" part two.

Emerzian, DPM, of Lake Shore Orthopaedics and Sports Medicine, will present "Take Care of Your Feet", a foot health seminar and screening, at the Great Room, Independent Living Center, The Village of Victory Lakes, 1075 Victory Drive (off Grand Avenue), Lindenhurst. Dr. Emerzian will discuss foot and ankle problems and care. Immediately following the seminar, he will screen attendees for arthritis, circulatory, diabetic and other foot problems. Space is limited. Call 1-800-843-2464 to register.

Program chairman schedule speakers

As program chairman for county clubs and organizations work to fill their 1999/2000 program calendars, they can benefit from the Victory Memorial Hospital Speaker's Bureau. With as little as 4 weeks advance notice, this service can help arrange informative, entertaining programs that meet your organization's requirements.

Topics range from health-related issues like "Reducing Fat in Our Diets" and "Surviving a Heart Attack" to discussions of self-help programs like "Time Management" and "Dealing with Difficult People". Speakers are available to discuss advances in medicine such as "Women and Heart Disease" and "Advances in Band-Aid (Endoscopic) Surgery". They also address a number of family-related issues including "You and Your Aging Parents". The hospital offers a brochure listing dozens of topics for presentations. To receive a free copy of the brochure or for more information, call 360-4148 Monday through Friday, between 7:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Public health offers hot weather reminders

Dr. John R. Lumpkin, state public health director, reminded Illinoisans to take precautions during summer heat waves, such as what the state is currently experiencing, to avoid serious health problems.

"Periods of extremely hot weather can lead to heat-related illness when the body's temperature control system becomes overloaded," Dr. Lumpkin said. "Summertime activities, whether on the playing field or the construction site, must be balanced with measures that aid the body's cooling mechanisms and prevent heat-related illness."

"Your best defense against heat-related illness is common sense and prevention. Staying cool and making simple changes in your fluid intake, activities and clothing can help you remain safe and healthy."

The following are commonly asked questions about heat-related conditions and how to safely cope with the heat.

Why do high air temperatures affect the body?

Normally, the body cools itself by sweating. If temperatures are extremely high, however, sweating is not enough to maintain the body's normal temperature. When this happens, blood chemistry can change and internal organs — including the brain and kidneys — can be damaged. Heat also can be stressful if the temperature changes suddenly, since it usually takes several days for the body to adjust to the heat.

What are some of the most common heat-related conditions?

The most common are heatstroke, heat exhaustion, heat cramps, sunburn and heat rash. Heatstroke and heat exhaustion are the most serious.

What is heatstroke?

Heatstroke occurs when the body becomes unable to control its temperature. The body's temperature rises rapidly, the sweating mechanism fails and the body is unable to cool down. Body temperature may rise to 106 degrees F or higher within 10 to 15 minutes. Heatstroke can result from overexposure to direct sunlight, with or without physical activity, or to very high indoor temperatures. It can cause death or permanent disability if emergency treatment is not given. What are the symptoms of heatstroke and how are they treated?

Symptoms include an extremely high body temperature (above 103 degrees F, orally); red, hot and dry skin; rapid pulse; throbbing headache; dizziness, nausea; confusion; and unconsciousness. If symptoms of heatstroke are present, find a cool place, preferably an air-conditioned indoor setting. Outside, find a spot in the shade. Put the persons in a semi-sitting position. Loosen his or her clothing and bathe the head and body with cold water. Seek medical attention immediately.

What is heat exhaustion?

Heat exhaustion can result when too much time is spent in a very warm environment, resulting in excessive sweating without adequate fluid and electrolyte (salt and minerals) replacement. This can occur either indoors or outdoors, with or without exercise.

What are the symptoms of heat exhaustion and how are they treated?

Symptoms of heat exhaustion may include dizziness, headache, nausea, abdominal cramps, shallow breathing, cold and clammy skin, muscle tremors and heavy perspiration. A person suffering from heat exhaustion should be moved to an air-conditioned environment if possible. If outside, move the person to a shady spot.

How can I avoid heat exhaustion and heatstroke?

Try to keep cool during exremely hot weather. Stay in a cool environment (preferably air conditioned), drink plenty of fluids — such as water, fruit juices or fruit drinks — and use common sense. Heat injury may develop with or without feelings of discomfort.

What are heat cramps?

Heat cramps are muscle pains or spasms — usually in the abdomen, arms or legs — that may occur in association with strenuous activity as sweating depletes the body's salt and moisture. If you have heart problems or are on a low sodium diet, get medical attention for heat cramps. If medical attention is not necessary, stop all activity and sit quietly in a cool place, drink clear juice or a sports beverage and do not return to strenuous activity for a few hours after the cramps subside because further exertion may lead to heat exhaustion or heatstroke. Seek medical attention if the heat cramps do not subside in one hour.

What about sunburn?

Sunburns should be avoided because it is damaging to the skin. Although the discomfort is usually minor and healing often occurs in about a week, a more severe sunburn may require medical attention. Symptoms of sunburn are well known: skin becomes red, painful and abnormally warm after sun exposure. Consult a doctor if the sunburn affects an infant under 1 year of age or if these symptoms are present — fever, fluid-filled blisters or severe pain.

When treating sunburn avoid repeat sun exposure, apply cold compresses or immerse the sunburned area in cool water, apply moisturizing lotion to affected areas (not salve, butter or ointment) and do not break blisters.

What are some good tips on how to avoid heat-related problems?

Use a buddy system. When working in the heat, monitor the condition of your co-workers and have someone do the same for you. If you are at home and are 65 years of age or older or have a chronic health problem, ask a friend, relative or neighbor call to check on you at least twice a day during a heat wave, even if you have air conditioning.

Limit outdoor activities. Try to plan activities for the coolest times of the day — before noon or in the evening. While outdoors, rest frequently in a shady area. Resting periodically will give your body's thermostat a chance to recover. If you are unaccustomed to working in a hot environment, start slowly. If you must work faster, pick up the pace gradually. If exertion in the heat makes your heart pound and leaves you gasping for breath, stop all activity, get into a cool area — or at least in the shade — and rest, especially if you become lightheaded, confused, weak or faint.

Protect your body. Wear as little clothing as possible when indoors. Choose lightweight, light-colored, loose-fitting clothing. When spending time outdoors, avoid direct sunlight, wear a wide-brimmed hat and use a sunscreen with a sun protection factor (SPF) greater than 15 to protect yourself against sunburn. Apply sunscreen 30 minutes before going outdoors and reapply according to package directions.

A final reminder — take care of your pets. In many ways, dogs and cats react to hot weather as humans do. Offer pets extra water and be sure to place the water dish in a shaded area if outdoors. Make sure pets have a protected place where they can get away from the sun.

Take a step into the past this August at Antique Car Show and Ice Cream Social

Looking for something the entire family can do this summer?

Good Shepherd Hospital and the Barrington Area Historical Society are co-hosting an Antique Car Show and Ice Cream Social this summer. The event is scheduled for Sat., August 14 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. near the rustic farm buildings on the hospital's ground at 450 W. Highway 22 in Barrington. The event is designed as a community-wide celebration of the hospital's 20th Anniversary.

The show features dozens of antique and vintage cars from area residents residing in the hospital's service area. A special show features cars from the year 1979 — the year Good Shepherd Hospital opened.

The event is open to the general public. Admission is $5 per person over age 12 and includes cake, ice cream and lemonade at our old fashioned ice cream social. Children under age 12 are free. Proceeds from the event will benefit the Barrington Area Historical Society and Wellness Place, a community resource center for cancer patients, survivors and their families in the northwest suburbs.

So bring the family and enjoy a day in the country. Good Shepherd Hospital is located at 450

W. Highway 22 in Barrington.

This year the hospital is celebrating 20 years of community service. Good Shepherd Hospital is a leading health care provider in the northwest suburbs with 156 beds, a medical staff of more than 400 and a complement of innovative and nationally recognized health care services. The hospital is part of Advocate Health Care, one of the largest health care organizations in Chicago and the #1 top rated healthcare network in the nation. Advocate is related to both the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America and the United Church of Christ.

Veterans of foreign war donates to North Chicago VA Medical Center

The VFW Post 7706 from Barrington, recently donated $3,600 to the North Chicago VA Medical Center. The donation purchased ultrasonic scaling units for the Dental Department. The units are used to "clean" patients teeth. The North Chicago VA Medical Center has a large population of long-term residents who require exams and dental prophylaxis twice a year. This new equipment will greatly enhanced the delivery of care. # Where have all the valedictorians gone?

Dr. Singer:

I saw something on the news this last week that really made me angry. Actually I didn't see it. I heard it in the other room so I didn't get all the details. I was wondering if you heard it? Someone, be it a psychologist or an educator, was talking about how they felt that it was destructive to tell your child about how smart he or she is. They felt it was better to tell your child what a good person he or she is. First they do away with grades in school and now this. What is going on in this society when being smart doesn't matter anymore? I'd love to hear your thoughts on this. M.M.

Dear M.M.:

No, I didn't hear or see that one on the news. I'll comment on your general idea, however I would caution you that since you hadn't really seen it or heard it in its entirety, that you be careful about how you are quoting what was said. Misinformation can be a terrible thing. If it was said, it's a very sad representation of the person who said it.

In general, I would believe that someone would have said something like that. It seems that our society has completely lost touch with what true self esteem really is. Many people seem to think that we need to protect kids from competition. Somehow, many people out there have gotten the faulty idea that if you ask a child to compete in any way, you are taking a chance on hurting that child so we have become a society that discourages that kind of competition and, levels out the playing field, if you will.

PARENT'S PLACE

My view is, that by leveling the playing field, they are also leveling this society. Many times, the pain of fine tuning after rejection is what brings out the perfect success in us. Many of us would never have reached our potential if we didn't fail a number of times first. Our kids are the future of our society. True self esteem doesn't come from complete fairness from the beginning. It doesn't come from a stacked situation. Kids are very aware when they have gotten something because it was given to them. Sometimes that hurts worse than competing and losing.

Imagine if we added the same level of quota and label to the sports arena. What if we said that certain teams had to win a certain number of times a year. What if we had to stop saying that a team was great or spectacular because other teams weren't. Pretty crazy, huh? Yet we do it daily with our kids.

I am reminded of the situation several years ago in which a local school decided to get rid of the valedictorian position. So, I guess in that situation, the idea was, instead of encouraging all kids to try and get to a position like that, we just get rid of that aspiration and make sure that everyone is even. It is ludicrous. Now, of course, I can hear the critics reading this. All of the people out there who are saying, "But what about the children who can't make it there." I cringe when I hear people say things like that. In 12 years I've met a lot of kids. Some who were very high IQ and some, not so high IQ. What stopped the lower IQ kids from trying, wasn't competition. It also wasn't their own IQ limitation (which I don't believe in—I believe that IQ can be raised.) It was the attitude of those around those kids. People who were convinced that this child couldn't reach the top. Well, guess what? The child listened and fulfilled that prophecy.

Not all of us can be valedictorians. Not all of us can be Einstein. Try and imagine, though, if during the time of Einstein or Mozart we took this view that some of us have now. Einstein and Mozart both had sensorimotor limitations, however, both were pure genius. Today, we seem to be taking our Mozart's and Einstein's and making sure that they never struggle to fine tune their skills. What are we potentially missing here?

So, in answer to your question, if someone did, in fact, say that we should not tell kids they are smart, I wholeheartedly disagree. They can be both smart and good people. Smartness is possible in so many areas. It's not a blanket statement.

Thank goodness that there are still enough people out there that believe that kids will go as far as you let them. I am in the business of improving cognitive or thinking skills on an everyday basis. I know what I've seen. I know that many limitations can be improved significantly.

I'm glad you are out there! It makes me know that there are more out there that think like me! This column is for entertainment purposes only. Information in this column cannot and should not replace proper psychological treatment.

A 'sacred' solution for curing diseases

Can prayer cure serious illness? Can healers simply lay their hands on ailing patients and make them well? Dr. C. Norman Shealy, founder of the American Holistic Medical Association and author of "Sacred Healing—The Curing Power of Energy and Spirituality" (Element Books), believes, after years of study and research, that "sacred healing" can have a major impact on the curing of disease.

What is Sacred Healing?

Shealy defines sacred as a reverence for things created by God, thus reverence for life itself and all that sustains life. In this sense, according to Shealy, all therapies intended for healing are sacred. It ultimately is consciousness and our attunement to the divine that determines health, nurturing, love and a desire to do good. "A positive, cheerful, optimistic attitude and self-motivation are," he says, "as important as diet and exercise, and yes, all aspects of modern medicine in determining health and healing."

For more than two decades, Shealy has been investigating claims of extraordinary healing through divine intervention. As a neurosurgeon, he wanted to know why sacred healing could cure seemingly incurable diseases when conventional medical procedures failed. His quest took him to the Philippines, where he witnessed psychic surgeons use only their hands to perform complex operations, and to the Ukraine, where he worked with physicians who had cured thousands of patients of everything from diabetes to cancer by "tuning" their cells to an optimum vibratory frequency.

The Power of Prayer

Time magazine (June 24, 1996) reported that 82 percent of the U.S. population believes that prayer can heal and 77 percent believe in God's intervention in curing serious illness. In an April 1997 issue, USA Weekend reported that 79 percent of the population believe spiritual faith can help heal and 56 percent say their faith has helped them heal. These findings are evidence that a spiritual revival is gaining momentum in America.

Why this change in beliefs? To some extent, according to Shealy, it is "due to the impersonal nature of modern science and medicine." Managed care, or "mangled care" as he refers to it, is repulsing a number of people, thus making sacred healing more attractive and more necessary. In the book, Larry Dossey, a respected author and physician, states, "Compared with prayer, modern medicine would win the death derby every time by a landslide."

Healing in the New Millennium Caroline Myss, Ph.D., best-selling author of "Anatomy of the Spirit" and "Why People Don't Heal and How They Can," has known Shealy for 15 years and conducts workshops with him around the country. She has written the foreword for "Sacred Healing."

"While I recognize that he is a brilliant physician," she says of Shealy, "I think of him first as a quintessential research scientist whose primary interest in this life is to discover more about the relationship of the energy—or sacred texture of the human being—to the physical body. It is becoming increasingly evident that the themes of the next millennium are healing and the emergence of the sacred into the entire weave of life, and Shealy has performed a valuable service by writing the book."

All Healing is Sacred

During the course of his investigation, Shealy came to the realization that all healing ultimately comes from a divine source, and all illness stems from an imbalance or sickness in the spirit of the individual patient. He concludes that we all have the power to heal ourselves, we all have the power to be sacred healers. God may work in mysterious ways, but in "Sacred Healing," Shealy unveils the mystery and offers readers a prescription for good health.

The book is available at major bookstores, online booksellers or by calling 1-877-2-ELEMENT.

Lake Forest Hospital to launch "Care Coach" with help from Abbott Laboratories

Lake Forest Hospital sets the wheels in motion on its new "Care Coach" this fall. The customized medical van is designed to deliver free health care and disease prevention services to the people of Lake County. The Lake Forest Hospital Care Coach will provide a variety of services, including health screenings, immunizations, and advocacy and referral services.

The Abbott Laboratories Fund contributed $100,000 to the project, helping to purchase the 40-foot vehicle. Many of Abbott's products will be used on the Care Coach and Abbott's Lake County employees will be encouraged to volunteer on the project.

Douglas added, "Abbott Laboratories' generous support has been instrumental in bringing Care Coach's mobile health services to Lake County. This project demonstrates the hospital's mission to provide holistic care. We are thrilled to have the help of such a quality organization like Abbott to deliver health services in our community."

The Lake Forest Hospital Care Coach will travel throughout Lake County with a particular emphasis on medically under-served populations, including children and older adults.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: I am employed with a good company for the past 8 months that I have to say is worth getting up for in the morning. I like what I do and the responsibilities that I have. The only downside is that I report directly to a person who is incredibly negative. No matter how good things appear to be going, she always seems to have something negative to say. For instance, there was a project that took me just over 4 weeks to complete. When it was done and ready for presentation, I brought it to my supervisor who briefed over it and said, "you should have used different paper stock". It was basic white. Then she felt that I should have made the bar graphs in a different color. When I explained why I chosen the colors I did, she said she would have chosen different colors. I reminded her of the deadline for this project, which was to be presented to the Board within the hour, and although I had already gone through and proofread everything, instead of telling me it was good work, she said, "you better hope there are no typos in there". Even in everyday conversations, a fellow co-worker mentioned to her that she just purchased a new automobile and her response was, "why would anyone buy a NEW car?" There are a few of us here that constantly have to bite our tongue to keep from saying something that will jeopardize our job. How do you approach someone in a nice way and tell them that they are so negative, that people feel uncomfortable around them at work?
P.D. - Round Lake Beach

A: Keeping an upbeat attitude at work can be difficult when you are constantly brought down. Deal with it. Not everyone has a positive attitude. Be thankful that you seem to be a happy individual. Surround yourself with people who share your attitude. If it bothers you to bring your finished efforts to her out of courtesy...don't. If it is required that you have your work approved by her prior to passing it on, perhaps you need to ask her next time what paper stock she feels it should be on and what colors she wishes her bar graphs to be. Good luck!

What is the Gurnee Days celebration?

The Gurnee Days Corporation, a not-for-profit organization of volunteers, has been planning and orchestrating the annual Gurnee Days celebration for 27 years. The upcoming Gurnee Days festivities will be held the second full week of August — Thursday, August 12 through Sunday, August 15, 1999. The theme is "Gurnee Days Swings into the Future."

The event is funded by cash or in kind contributions from area businesses, individuals and civic organizations. Without their support, Gurnee Days would not be possible.

Traditionally, the celebration begins with a Thursday evening Testimonial Dinner honoring Gurnee individuals or couples who have made a significant contribution to the community.

Some of Friday's activities include a bicycle rodeo, library show and a Beach Bash.

Saturday kicks off with a golf tournament and 10k and 2 mile fun run. Viking Park hosts exhibitors, food, games and stage events. Baby, bike, trike, and buggy contests are held in the morning along with Open Houses at the Gurnee Police and Fire Departments. The historical Mother Rudd Home is open to visitors with special exhibits and activities. Even a student Art Show is displayed over the weekend. Saturday evening concludes with Viking Fest, a pig roast and extravaganza at the park.

Sunday events include the Des Plaines River Trail Bike Ride, pancake breakfast and a parade along Grand Avenue in the Village Center. Viking Park is overflowing with people enjoying the exhibitors, food, games and stage events. Magnificent show cars are on display at the car show and stage acts entertain at the talent show.

Gurnee Days is a community affair and was recently honored for promoting a safe, family festival. Come and join in the fun. For additional information, write to the Gurnee Days Corporation at P.O. Box 111 Gurnee, IL 60031 or call (847) 249-5596 or (847) 360-9848.

“I have two boys, two girls and four different problems.
Fortunately, one hospital takes care of it all.”

Asthma, a sprained ankle, mumps and a sore tummy. From a once-a-week allergy shot to an emergency room visit. From Sean who is 5 to Susanna who is 13. At Provena Saint Therese Medical Center, you can rest assured that no matter when you need us or what you need us for, we'll be there. Our dedication to truly comprehensive care shines through, whether you're having your first child or your fifth, coming in for an emergency or for regular treatment, participating in wellness screening or senior care.

For 70 years, we've treated countless families and their problems. That's why we've assembled an outstanding and highly trained medical staff, including doctors and specialists hailing from some of the top medical schools and teaching hospitals in the country. Provena Saint Therese also boasts the most advanced ambulatory surgical unit and the only inpatient rehabilitation facility in Lake County, a state-of-the-art CAT scanner and an accessible outpatient rehabilitation and sports medical center in Gurnee.

It's this kind of all-around dedication to health care that offers peace of mind in knowing that, though you can't anticipate which child's ailment will spring up next, you'll certainly know where to go when it does.

For a personalized physician referral or for other services provided by Provena Saint Therese, call 847-360-2600 or visit our web site at www.sainttherese.org

Stage events scheduled for Gurnee Days

Gurnee Days will once again feature two days of stage events for area families to enjoy during the annual Gurnee Days celebration. All performances will take place at the Viking Park Band Shell.

All performances scheduled for Saturday, August 14 are designed for children's entertainment. At 11:30am, a Baby contest will be held for all Gurnee resident's children up to one year old. Ribbons will be awarded. At 12:00 noon, a bike, trike and buggy contest will be held for all Gurnee resident's children up to 12 years old. Ribbons will be awarded. These two events are being put on by Community Trust Credit Union. Registration begins at 11:00am at the Band Shell on Saturday. For additional information, contact Jan Davis at the Credit Union at 662-2050.

Starting at 1:00pm on Saturday, the band shell will be filled with various entertainers. Scheduled to appear are the Magicians of Gurnee, Chris Carter-Hypnotist, and Tom Malouf-Family Folk Singer.

Sunday stage events begin at approximately 1:00pm with the Viking School Band. At 2:00pm, Mayor Richard Welton will take the stage for the Gurnee Days awards presentation. The third annual Gurnee Days talent show will take the stage at about 2:15pm with performances from Gurnee children.

For more information about the Gurnee Days stage events, call Barb Crowley at 662-8306.

Gurnee Days Annual 10K Race and Fun Run

Third Annual Viking Fest scheduled for Gurnee Days

Plans are underway for the third annual Viking Fest during Gurnee Days. On Saturday, August 14 from 4:30pm to 11:30pm, Viking Park will be the place for Gurnee Breakfast Exchange Club's Viking Fest.

The park will be filled with live jazz and country rock music. There will be a tasty pig roast along with other great food and refreshments. This is a great place to meet old Gurnee friends and make new ones as you enjoy Viking Park in the evening hours.

Admission is $5.00 per person and children under 15 are free with an adult. The food and refreshments are an additional charge.

This is a major fund-raiser for the Breakfast Exchange Club of Gurnee and proceeds will go toward philanthropic projects including the prevention of child abuse.

For additional information, contact Jan Boettel at 623-5845.

Gurnee Days honorees chosen

The Gurnee Days Corporation has announced Barbara Richardson has been chosen as the Gurnee Days Honoree for 1999. The testimonial dinner honoring Barbara Richardson will be held on Thursday, August 12 and traditionally kicks off the annual Gurnee Days festivities.

Barbara is a lifetime resident of Lake County and a Gurnee resident for over ten years. Her husband is Donald Cannon and she is the mother of 3 children and grandmother of 7.

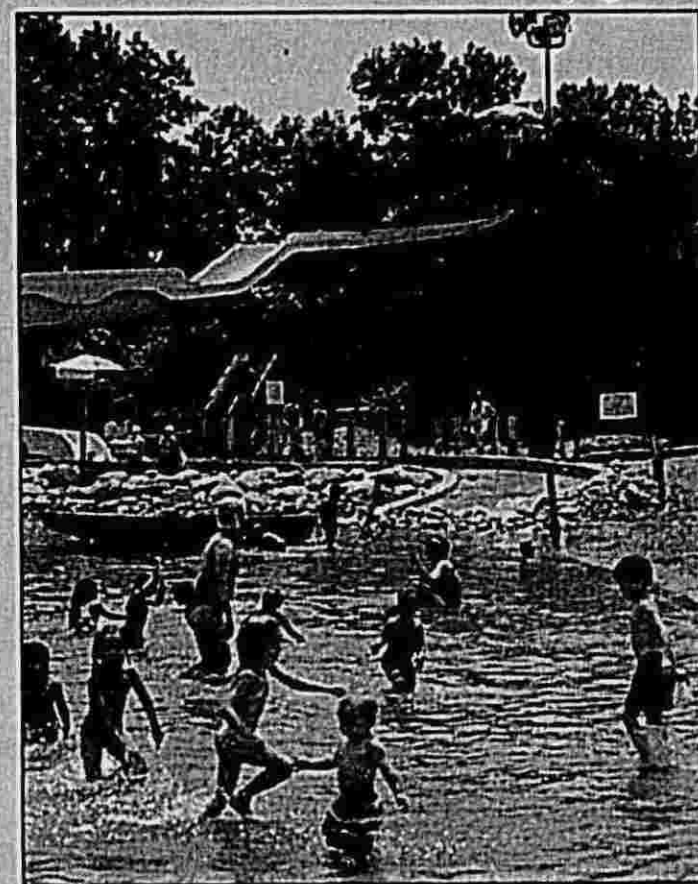

Barbara has served as the Coroner of Lake County since 1977 and is the first woman to serve Lake County in this office. She is a graduate of Warren Township High School and was recently inducted into the WTHS Hall of Fame.

Her numerous volunteer activities include working with A Safe Place, All Lake County Food Drive, Gurnee Community Church, LaCasa, PADS, Victory Memorial Hospital Festival of Trees, The Harbor and the United Way of Lake County.

Barbara is past and/or current member of many civic and professional organizations including the American Board of Forensic Examiners, American Business Women's Association, American Cancer Society, American Legion Auxiliary, College of Lake County Foundation, Gurnee Women's Club, Illinois Police Association, Lake County Food Resource Council, Lake County Domestic Violence Council, Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse, Salvation Army Advisory Board, S.T.A.R. Hospice Board and the YWCA of Lake County.

Certainly Barbara has given of her time, many talents and energy in a multitude of family, church, vocational and community activities. From providing loving support for her family to heading the Benevolence and Membership Service Board at Gurnee Community Church to overseeing PADS support, dispersal of Christmas baskets to the needy in Gurnee, gathering of food for local soup kitchens to providing genuine compassion to grieving individuals and families as the Lake County Coroner Barbara is a very gifted person who unselfishly gives of herself for the benefit of so many in Gurnee and the immediate surrounding area.

Each year, the Gurnee Days corporation seeks nominations from the community for residents who have made a significant contribution to the community for over 10 years. Gurnee Days Corporation is pleased to have such devoted person as Barbara Richardson as the 1999 Gurnee Days Honoree and Parade Marshall of the annual Gurnee Days parade.

For more information, contact Elizabeth Ebert at 244-6699.

Gurnee Days Annual Des Plaines River Trail Bike Ride

Join the fun on Sunday, August 15 for the annual Gurnee Days Des Plaines River Trail Bike A Thon. The bike a thon will begin at Mike's Bike in Gurnee and pedals its way through the Lake County Forest Preserve along the Des Plaines river.

Riders may select from a 10 or 20 mile route. The terrain is flat to rolling. The routes proceed along the pathways and go north to Sterling Lake in Wadsworth and then riders head south to Gurnee.

Proceeds from the event will be donated to the American Cancer Society. Sign up today and make a difference in the fight against cancer.

The entry fee is $20/individual, $40/family, or $50/team before August 6 and $10 additional after the deadline. Your entry fee entitles you to a map of the route, rest stops, SAG support and parking. The first 300 to register will receive an official Gurnee Days Bike A thon T-shirt.

Registration forms are available at Mike's Bikes, American Cancer Society, Gurnee Park District or the Village Hall. For additional information, contact Mike's Bikes at 662-8482 or the American Cancer Society at 432-0577.

Gurnee Days hosts fourth annual car show

Gurnee Days will host their fourth annual Gurnee Days Show and Shine Car show on Sunday, August 15 at Viking Park. Awesome collectible cars will be on display.

Over 20 classes of vehicles and more than 70 trophies to award, the Car Show is a fun filled activity for the whole family.

Registration fees are $10 in advance and $12 at the show. Each of the first 150 cars will receive a dash plaque and goodie bag. Voting will be done by the participants.

Registration forms are available at the Village Hall or Gurnee Park District or by calling Brad at 623-7650. Don't miss this exciting event.

Gurnee Days Hosts Annual Beach Bash

Gurnee Days in conjunction with Warren Assisting Youth (WAY) will sponsor the annual Gurnee Days Beach Bash on Friday, August 13 at Gowe Beach in Gurnee.

This will be a chaperoned dance with music, swimming, food and games for youth and teens entering sixth through ninth grades. The admission price is $1.00 with food extra.

What a fun way to spend a great Gurnee summer evening then to party at Gowe Beach. For additional information, contact W.A.Y. at 244-1105.

Gurnee Days Hosts 3 On 3 Basketball Tournament

Gurnee Days will host a 3 on 3 Basketball Tournament on Saturday, August 14 at the Viking Park basketball courts. Check-in time is 10:00am.

Divisions are set up for players either male or female from 8 years old and up. Each team may have 4 players and a minimum of 2 games will be played by each team. Trophies will be awarded to first second, and third place finishers in each age bracket. Free t-shirts will be given to all registered players. Fees are $20/youth team and $40/adult team.

The registration deadline is July 31 and forms are available at the Gurnee Park District, Village Hall and State Farm Insurance. Put together your winning team today. For additional information, contact Bernie Floriani State Farm at (847) 336-8792.

Gurnee Days Annual Parade Plans Are Underway

Over 75 entries are expected to participate in this year's annual Gurnee Days parade. The parade begins at noon on Sunday, August 15 led by Grand Marshall Barbara Richardson.

Trophies will be awarded in six different categories. The parade steps off at Old Grand Ave. and Greenleaf Ave. and continues westbound down Old Grand Ave. finishing at the the Gurnee Grade School. Come out and enjoy the "Gurnee Days Swings Into the Future" parade.
